

Rusk Tells NATO Cuban Situation Is World Problem

Inspection Flights Continue, He Asserts to Western Allies

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk warned the Western allies today that Cuba is an explosive problem presenting the danger of another world-shaking crisis.

Rusk told the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) Council that the United States is determined to continue aerial reconnaissance of Cuba. He declared that any attempt by Prime Minister Fidel Castro to interfere could create a severe problem.

He said he could see where it would be a serious matter for the other side as well, and pointed out a crisis could develop into one as serious as the confrontation of October, 1962, over Soviet missiles in Cuba.

Seeks Embargo Backing
The secretary was seeking NATO support for the U.S. trade embargo of the Communist island, a customer of such major American allies as Britain and France.

Opening the three-day spring meeting of the NATO Council of Foreign Ministers, Rusk declared that all Communist aggression must be eradicated to insure the security of the non-Communist world. This appeared to be a reference to South Viet Nam as well as Cuba.

Rusk described a crisis over Cuba as one for the whole Western world not just for the United States.

Wants Castro Isolated
Washington, he explained, could not tolerate Castro's efforts to subvert the rest of the hemisphere. Castro's regime must be isolated politically, economically, socially and spir-itally from the rest of the hemisphere, he added.

NATO Faces Threat
Rusk said NATO's successful defense of the Atlantic community "has somewhat deflected the Communist threat against Europe itself."

"The Communists are concentrating their expansionist efforts on other areas of the world," he said. "It is essential that Communists everywhere learn that they cannot expect to gain from a policy of militancy."

Rusk said the NATO Allies should not let success blind them to current dangers.

"Certain of these dangers seem to have diminished, but they can reappear suddenly and without warning," he said.

Man Admits Stabbing of Wausau Girl

Former Winnebago Hospital Patient, Police Report

WAUSAU (AP)—A 21-year-old former mental patient admitted today that he seized a high school girl Monday afternoon on her way to school and stabbed her more than 50 times with a jack knife after he thought she recognized him.

Terry Caspersen was named this afternoon in a warrant charging him with attempted first degree murder.

Dist. Atty. Patrick L. Crooks said that Caspersen, a convicted auto thief who now is on probation, was taken into custody by deputies at 10:30 a.m. today after a chase through the woods three miles northwest of Wausau.

Police Search
Officers, who had been searching for him since critically wounded Eleanor Kaatz picked his picture out of a rogues' gallery file Monday, were called to the area by a man who saw Caspersen run across Highway 51.

When Deputies John Lubbe and Ken Talcott ran him down in the brush, Caspersen picked up a stone.

"What's the rock for?" Lubbe asked.

"I want you fellows to shoot me," Caspersen replied. But he dropped the rock and surrendered.

Crooks said that when questioned, Caspersen admitted he had been loafing on the island that supports a bridge across the Wisconsin River in Wausau when Miss Kaatz approached.

"I wanted to do something," he told the prosecutor. "I didn't know what. Then I saw her coming."

He dragged her into the brush, he said, but when he thought she recognized him, he decided he "had to kill her."

Cannon, Head Of Fund Group In House, Dies

Missouri Had Served in Congress During 42 Years

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., pepper guardian of the U.S. pocketbook for decades died today. He was 88.

Dean of the House in years, he had been in Congress since 1922, a member of the Appropriations Committee, and chairman of the group since 1941 except for the periods 1946-48 and 1952-54 when the Republicans were in control.

In that period he had presided over appropriation of more than a trillion dollars—more than any man in history. But he was proudest of the billions he had helped chop out of requests. Rep. George Mahon, D-Tex., is in line to succeed Cannon as chairman of the powerful committee.

Aides said Cannon died about 4 a.m. (EDT) after a heart attack. They said Cannon had entered Washington Hospital Center Sunday afternoon suffering from what he thought was nausea.

He had appeared at his office as usual on Saturday, aides said, and was "chipper and in good spirits" at that time.

Top Man in House
As a parliamentarian it was conceded Cannon was top man in the House. In fact he wrote most of the rules—"Cannon's Procedure of the House of Representatives" is a legislative bible.

And in the sometimes rowdy Democratic conventions over which the late Speaker Sam Rayburn presided, he was Rayburn's strong right hand when the procedural going got rough. Rayburn once said privately he didn't know where Cannon got all the precedents he cited, and had his doubts they really existed except in Cannon's agile mind. But they helped Rayburn keep conventions under control.

Cannon will be buried Thursday in his hometown, Elsberry, Mo. Funeral services will be at

Troops Stop Outbreak After Wallace Speech

5 Hurt, 14 Arrested in Maryland

BY LOUIS G. PANOS

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP)—An outbreak of violence in the wake of a presidential campaign speech by Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace left this center of racial strife in the grip of new tensions today.

Two demonstrators and five National Guardsmen were injured in a melee touched off Monday night when about 200 singing, hand-clapping integrationists tried to march on the arena where Wallace had spoken.

They met a cordon of some of the 400 National Guardsmen hurried into this sensitive spot just to prevent such an act.

Wallace had already left the town of 12,600. He had addressed about 1,500 supporters in his campaign in the May 19 Democratic primary and was applauded more than 40 times during a 45-minute speech attacking the civil rights bill pending in the Senate.

14 Under Arrest

Balked by guardsmen wearing gas masks and holding rifles with fixed bayonets, the integrationists squatted in the street and sang "We Shall Not Be Moved."

Guardsmen used tear gas to disperse them, arrested 14 and slapped an 11 p.m. curfew on the city.

State officials met into early morning on the disposition of the arrested. Two were treated at Cambridge Hospital; one for a cut and the other for the effects of tear gas, then were returned to the National Guard armory. Two others were then sent to the hospital for treatment of minor injuries.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Robert Murphy said charges to be filed against some of those arrested still were under study.

Leader Seized
"It may be foolish, if the climate stays as it is, to turn them loose in this inferno down here," he said.

Gloria Richardson, leader of the two-year-old integration movement in Cambridge, was among those arrested. Those not hospitalized were transferred to National Guard headquarters in Pikesville, across Chesapeake Bay and north of Baltimore.

The guardsmen ordered into

LBJ Criticized for 'Playing Politics With Cruel Subject'

Ohio Rep. Robert Taft Attacks Johnson Poverty War as Gimmick

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

WAUSAU—President Lyndon Johnson was accused here Monday night of "playing politics with a cruel subject."

Rep. Robert Taft Jr., Ohio Republican who won that state's U.S. Senate primary election last week, spoke before a turn-away crowd at a testimonial dinner for Rep. Melvin R. Laird, Seventh District Republican, in Newman High School.

Over $20,000 in campaign funds went into the GOP treasury as a result of Monday night's dinner. Over 2,000 tickets were sold at $10-a-plate dinner. About 100 people had to be turned away since only 1,500 people could be seated for the dinner.

Taft said Johnson is "unwilling to face up to facts of our country's economic problems. We have a relatively good economy and are on a fairly strong basis, yet our national debt has climbed by $31 billion—a climb of 10 per cent."

'Political Gimmick'
Johnson's "War on Poverty" was described as "political gimmick being used in a cruel area."

Taft charged Democrats with "simultaneously boasting about prosperity and bemoaning poverty. In each instance," he said, "the patently-political polish of the Johnson administration hides the truth from the American people."

"During the 1960 election campaign we heard so much about 4 1/2 million in unemployment, but we still have them today. It hasn't gotten any better," Taft said.

He stated that discrimination in the availability of jobs for Negroes has worsened the unemployment problem.

McNamara in Saigon For Talks on Conflict

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara arrived in Saigon today for a 36-hour visit and plunged into a series of heavily guarded conferences on the progress of the war in Viet Nam.

Heavily Guarded
McNamara raced from one conference to another in Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge's car, with flak jackets piled on the floor, on the seat and behind his back for protection against Communist terrorist bullets, hand grenades and mines.

He was accompanied everywhere by a motorcade of vehicles bristling with police and a truck loaded with black-beretted Special Forces soldiers, their guns at the ready.

U.S. and Vietnamese security were taking no chances since discovery of a plot on McNamara's life. Viet Cong agents were caught Saturday night trying to mine a bridge the secretary was to cross.

McNamara on his arrival conferred for two hours with Lodge. Then, after a quick lunch at Lodge's residence, he began a series of conferences with top U.S. military officials.

Here for his fifth visit since

An 81-Car Milwaukee Road freight train was derailed at 1:15 a.m. Tuesday four miles north of Chilton near the intersection of State 57 and County Trunk E. Twenty-seven of the cars went off the track and piled three and four high. Three of the train crew bound for Milwaukee escaped injury while the conductor and brakeman, who were in the caboose, were treated for cuts and bruises and released from Calumet Memorial Hospital. # 'Accidental' Mishaps Frighten Wife, May be Significant Signs

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I had a good laugh reading that letter from the woman whose husband used to hit her during his sleep. After a while it got me to thinking, and now I'm wondering about my old man. He hits me when he is asleep.

It is always "accidental" — or so he says. And I really can't prove it isn't. A few weeks ago he was hanging a picture and dropped it on my head. I thought he had fractured my skull. He has burned me with cigars and hit me with the garden rake. Last year he almost ran me over with the car. (He was backing out of the driveway and didn't see me trimming the hedges.)

Please tell me if you think these accidents mean anything.

D. F.: Yes, they mean something. They mean your husband is careless, awkward and accident prone. They might also mean that he has mixed emotions about you.

My advice is to keep alert when your husband is in the vicinity and signal your position frequently. If anything like the car incident occurs again insist that he get some professional help.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a very good card player and enjoy almost any kind of game. I usually win.

These last several months I have not been invited to many card games. My husband commented on this last night and said it was because I win too often. He said it would be a good idea if I let others win once in a while.

This seems wrong. I would not want to play cards with anyone who would let me win. I feel every person should play his best. Letting someone win is a form of cheating. When I expressed this view he said I was wrong. Am I? Or is he?

No Faker

Dear No: Your husband is wrong on two counts. First, I don't believe you are being invited less often because you win too frequently. I suspect you are not a gracious winner, which is something quite different. People like to compete against good players because it helps improve their own game.

Second, playing less than your best is dishonest. Everyone should play to win.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We have four children under 12 years of age. Since February at least one of my brood has been at home with a cold, the mumps, the flu, measles, or chicken pox. Yesterday when I went to school on parents' visit-clubs and saw no future in continuing that suit. Instead, East shifted to the ten of hearts.

Now the defenders were sure to get three hearts, one club, and the ace of diamonds. It was very satisfactory to defeat a contract that was unbeatable if played correctly.

Refuse Finesse

The correct play is to refuse the finesse at the first trick. Declarer must put up dummy's ace of clubs and start work on the diamonds.

There is no danger from the clubs unless West opened from K-x-x, with J-9-x-x in the East hand. Even then, they can get only three clubs and the ace of diamonds.

The contract is assured, because declarer can get three spades, one heart, four diamonds, and one club. There is no reason to give the defenders a chance to switch to hearts in time to defeat the contract.

The moral for East and West is quite clear: A switch in time saves nine. For South the moral is: If at first you don't succeed, you may not get a second chance.

Daily Question

Partner opens with 1 NT (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes. You hold: S J 8 H K Q 3 D 9 5 C J 9 8 4 2. What do you say?

Answer: Pass. The combined count, with your 7 points is only 23 to 25 points, so game is too unlikely to bother about. Settle for a reasonably safe part score.

lately, five others were seasick and blowing their noses and could not breathe with their mouths closed. Two 1-year-olds had their heads down on their chests and looked feverish. One little girl had spots which I am sure were measles.

I am certain that some mothers are so anxious to get rid of their children that they push them out the door when they should be at home in bed. They do not care if their sick children infect others. What can be done about this? — Wet Man

Dear Wet: Almost every school has a nurse. The teacher is supposed to send the children who are ill to the nurse. The nurse decides if the child should be sent home. Since this procedure is obviously not being practiced in the school your children attend you should discuss it with the principal.

Whenever you get 25 kids together at least four are going to have eating issues. If your children get plenty of rest and proper nourishment you are protecting them to the best of your ability.

Carefully Select Child's Clothing

BY JUDITH STEINWAGEN
County Home Economics Agent

Undoubtedly the clothes your child wore last summer are too small to be worn for another season. This situation holds down to the fact that you will have to sew or purchase new items. Now clothing should be carefully selected for it plays an important part in your child's development. Clothing, properly selected, will offer the child an opportunity to do things for himself and develop independence.

Free Movement

When selecting clothing for your child, ask "does the garment allow my child to move freely"? This freedom of movement can be achieved by selecting garments of proper style and size. For example, a suit is not recommended by a large arm hole is apt to bind and restrict the child's activities. On the other hand, raglan sleeves, allow for greater freedom. Also make sure the garment selected fits loosely along the back of the neck. A garment fitting too tightly may force your child's head forward resulting in development of poor posture.

The second thing to be considered: "Can the child get in and out of the garment easily"? You know how impatient you become when you can not get a back zipper closed, children have even less patience.

Children should be encouraged to dress themselves, therefore, types and placement of fasteners should be considered. Buttons should be no smaller than 1/2 inch diameter. Even though tiny buttons on frilly dresses are pretty, larger buttons are more practical if we expect children to dress themselves. Hooks and eyes are almost impossible for small fingers to close. All buttons and plackets should be located within easy reach.

To insure a child's safety, make this new clothing flame resistant by spraying or sprinkling it with one of the following solutions: a mixture containing three ounces of boric acid, seven ounces of borax and two quarts of hot water for cotton fabrics, or a mixture of 12 ounces of diammonium phosphate in two quarts of water for rayon and these treated garments with an iron set at a moderately warm temperature.

'Roman Holiday' for Scouts

The Boy Scout Explorer Post 6 progressive dinner got off to a good start at the home of Jim Athens Saturday evening. Mrs. William Athens and Mrs. T. A. Howells were hostesses at the cocktail party that initiated the dinner. Above, Jim Athens serves Miss Denise Lipske as Jeff Huttenburg helps Miss Fran Huebner at the snack tray. Below, true to their Italian theme with the choice of a spaghetti main course, are Tom Howells, Miss Chris Fourness, Miss Deb Baker and Mike Nystrom. The young men about to take their leave of Boy Scout Explorer Post 6, sponsored by Jefferson School PTA, decided to wind up their scouting careers in grand style Saturday evening. Most of them will soon be graduating from high school, ending the years that have been filled with camping experiences, work on badges, service to the community and friendships that go back to grade school years. Although some of the associations will continue, they will never be the same as during the years they were active in Scouting.

The Post chose a progressive dinner with a Roman Holiday theme as their farewell party. They planned the dinner and progression themselves, enlisting help from parents in the preparation and serving of the food.

At 6 p.m. the boys and their dates met at the home of Jim Athens, 634 W. Prospect Ave., for a cocktail hour. At 7 p.m. they went to the home of Gary Weeks, 1347 W. Glendale Ave., for the soup course. True to

Born of Fear, NATO Has Had Uneasy History

By Charles A. Hulse
WASHINGTON (AP)—NATO, born in peril, quivers in comfort.

The foreign ministers of the 15 member nations of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization meet at The Hague today to discuss their problems, of which they have plenty, and mostly of their own doing.

They have split just at a time when—because the Soviet Union is occupied by its split with Red China—they might be solidifying themselves for the future.

But NATO has had an uneasy history: first created it and, when it wasn't tormented by problems from the outside, it manufactured them from the inside.

Soviet Power
Scared by the fear of Soviet power — after the Communists took over Czechoslovakia—Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg formed an alliance for mutual defense.
They wanted the United States in, too.

That was in March 1949, three months before Stalin tried to grab Berlin with a blockade. It took the United States a year to smash the blockade with an airlift. By then this country had decided to cast its lot with Europe.

NATO was formed April 4, 1949. The United States had a marvelous protective umbrella over Western Europe then because it alone had the atomic bomb.

This meant the Allies' ground troops could hold off a Soviet attack, if it came, until American planes went to work with the bombs.

Thinking Altered
This kind of thinking had to be altered for by August 1953, the United States and the Soviet Union both had nuclear bombs.
But ground troops were still needed.

It was agreed NATO would have 50 divisions for defense.
But the United States was the only member which ever lived up to its commitments.

NATO didn't really get going on a defense force until the Communists began the Korean War in 1950 and Gen. Dwight D.
Eisenhower was made commander.

But the desire of the Allies to relax their vigilance — if war didn't seem too likely, they could save money by not spending it on armaments—showed up early, as early as September 1950.

At that time it seemed the Korean war might be over soon.
President Harry S. Truman had to warn NATO that the greatest danger to the West would be in ever letting down its guard.

Early Years
Even in those early years, although he was then in retirement, Gen. Charles de Gaulle was a force for disunity. He complained the identity of French troops would be lost in the combined armies of NATO.

By 1965, with Stalin gone, the Soviet Union began to propa-gandize the West about its peaceful intentions. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles had to warn the NATO members not to let themselves be weakened by this.

NATO suffered an internal convulsion in 1966 when Britain and France, without telling its partners, invaded Egypt. The Russians jolted the West, but good, by warning they would hit Britain with missiles, although no one was sure the Soviet Union had missiles then.

The United States turned on Britain and France, told them to quit in Egypt. They did.

De Gaulle Returned
On May 31, 1968, De Gaulle returned to power as premier and within a month began dismantling the unity of NATO by telling the United States France would make its own nuclear weapons.

Then he had a new idea: that the United States, Britain and France should be the bosses of NATO. The idea was a "directorate." The United States wouldn't buy it, saying this would mean less participation for the smaller countries.

He went on from there until now, as president, with dreams of a tremendous France, he talks in terms of a Europe of "fatherlands," a loose association of fully sovereign states as independent of the United States as possible.

Meanwhile, two other NATO partners have developed bitterness to each other, Greece and Turkey, over the fighting in Cyprus. Secretary of State Dean
Rusk opposes the "fatherlands" idea, insists on "Atlantic partnership."

It is against this background that the foreign ministers meet, confronted with their own: split at the very moment when the Communist world is split.

Movie 'Tom Jones' at Area Theaters May 20

Many Residents Show Great Interest In Oscar Winner, Top Film of Year

BY JINGO

The most talked about movie in this century finally will make its appearance in the Fox Cities and if the interest reflected by the insistent inquiries concerning that appearance pans out the cinema palace on College Avenue should be bulging all during its extended run.

Wayne Berkley, the filmhouse's boniface, says that never in his long career as a movie exhibitor has he seen as much interest about a picture as he has for "Tom Jones."

This rowdy, exuberant filming of the first major novel ever written has everything in it — something for any and all tastes among habitués of the movie palace. It's 131 minutes fly by in the most enjoyable manner imaginable. And contrary to a mealy-mouthed rumor that has been making the frightening rounds, the Fox Cities will see every inch and every moment of this tremendous film.

The day movie fans apparently have been waiting for ever since Tony Richardson's masterpiece landed in this country will be May 20. From all of the talk and inquiries and complaints that have been heaped on Berkley's graying head, May 20 should be history making. (It's also scheduled for the Time Theater in Oshkosh on the same date.)

Jingo was given the pleasure of viewing a special screening of this show and he can recommend it without reservations.

The film industry itself has put its stamp of craftsmanship approval on the film. "Tom Jones" logged practically all of the nominations in many categories in the Academy Award campaign and came off with four Oscars, a share in the honors equalled only by the multi-troubled "Cleopatra."

In one category, best supporting actress, "Tom Jones" had three of the five nominations — indicative of the quality of the actresses who play figures in Tom's life.

The big Oscar "Tom" won was for the best picture of the year. Only that fact there was no such category prevented Tom from being awarded the Best Picture of the Era prize because that's what it is!

Last weekend saw the production of "Toad of Toad Hill" by the Lawrence College drama department. The delightful children's play happily had a most successful run. Not only was the production well received by adult theatergoers, but it packed two matinees specially staged for the youngsters.

The youngsters in Jingo's neighborhood, apparently, turned out in big numbers for the matinees because "Toad" is the talk of the younger set. Betty Jane Bradford in the title role must have done a wonderful job because the youngsters are dead set against braggards now. How long it will last, of course, is problematical.

The actress who won the youngsters' hearts, however, was Julia Biggars as the most sympathetic Mole. Miss Biggars, who spent most of her theater time backstage, has blossomed as a most convincing actress and it is hoped that she will be able to let us share her talent after she leaves Lawrence.

Read how a clinically proven formula now brings more complete, longer lasting relief!

If you suffer from hemorrhoids, you have probably discovered that products which promise to "shrink" hemorrhoids do not always give prolonged relief. For, as doctors know, merely "shrinking" may not relieve discomfort.

That's why an advanced formula from Mentholatum Laboratories—M.P.O.—answers the need for a more complete home treatment of hemorrhoids. With more medically accepted pain-relieving ingredients than the leading hemorrhoid preparation, M.P.O. not only works to (1) shrink swollen areas, (2) reduce

Hormone Pills Can Help Women in Menopause

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is there any harm in continuing to take hormone pills for my horrible "hot flashes?"

When I stop, I am miserable. (I am 52.)

My druggist told me I'd have to get another prescription before I can buy any more. So I wondered. Could they be dangerous? — Mrs. C. V.

I believe in giving hormones to women who need them, or will be substantially helped by them, in menopause.

But I do not believe they should be:

1—Given to all women in menopause. Some don't need them.

2—Given indefinitely. A course of several months of hormones, possibly repeated for another few months is reasonable. This will help some women over a difficult interval. It is not something they will need, or get any benefit from, over an extended period I mean anything beyond a year or so—more or less, to suit individual cases.

The reason the prescription can't be refilled indefinitely without a new one from your doctor is based on federal law, which I consider to be wise and sensible.

Some prescriptions should not be refilled at all without the doctor's explicit permission. Narcotics are an extreme example of this.

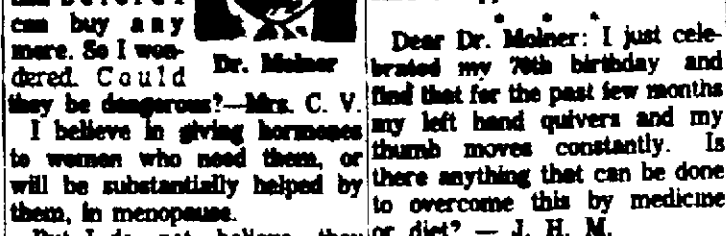

Others may be refilled a few times still others many times. But none—if a prescription is necessary at all—should be refilled indefinitely. In fact, in a few categories I'd make the laws a shade stricter than they now are.

In general, hormones for hot flashes are not dangerous. Yet under certain circumstances they might be. They do not cause cancer. But if certain types of cancer develop, the hormones could make them grow faster than usual; hence it's best to play safe.

While hormones are in use, watch for any sign of cancer. If one happened to develop, your doctor would stop the hormones at once. (And, of course, treat the cancer without delay, and try to cure it.)

Dear Dr. Molner: I just celebrated my 70th birthday and find that for the past few months my left hand quivers and my thumb moves constantly. Is there anything that can be done to overcome this by medicine or diet? — J. H. M.

Diet? No. Medicine? Perhaps yes, but it will require medical examination to find out what is causing the trembling before medicine or other treatment can be intelligently advised.

Fat? My leaflet, "The Lost Secret of Reducing," tells how to get rid of it the easy way. For your copy write to Dr. Molner in care of Appleton Post-Crescent, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and five cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Dr. Molner answers readers' questions in his column whenever possible.

Soviet-Peking Split Called Irrevocable

Little Expectation That Big Red Powers Can Heal Breach

BY WILLIAM L. RYAN

New developments in the Moscow-Peking dispute make virtually inescapable the conclusion that communism is finally and irrevocably split into two main camps.

Premier Khrushchev is under pressure to call an international Communist conference in June or July in a last effort to avert the division. But it is likely such a meeting would only confirm that the split is a fact.

Red-ruled Rumania has been trying feverishly to mediate the dispute but seems about ready to give up.

Peking Sees Split

The Rumanian party's April statement on the schism denounced a Red Chinese contention that "in conditions now prevailing in the Communist movement, a split both on the international plane and within various parties becomes necessary and unavoidable." The party said what Peking is doing "means to call for a split."

Infuriated, Khrushchev's Sovi-

A Two-Party South Emerging In Proposed Voting Changes

BY DON MCKEIE

ATLANTA (AP) — Emergence of a two-party South is reflected in new laws or proposed changes of election procedures linked to the rising Republican vote.

Soviet Attack Renewed

The Soviet party fired a barrage on this subject in the March issue of its theoretical journal, Kommunist. It renewed the attack in the journal's latest issue, out this week.

Kommunist accused the Chinese last month of trying to set up an "intermediate zone" which, by implication, would regard the Soviet Union and the United States with equal hostility.

This week Kommunist accused the Chinese of playing up to capitalists in Western Europe and Japan and dealing with governments which are members of Western alliances.

U. S. Main Target

The Chinese idea, say the Russians, is that Communists should zero in on the United States as the main enemy, and that thus Communist or capitalist rule.

Southern Democrats, secure in their one-party system, once scoffed at the Republican practice of nominating by convention; this, they said, produced only hand-picked candidates.

Enacting Laws

Now they've quit scoffing and began enacting laws aimed at forcing the Republicans to hold primary elections and quit voting in the Democratic primaries.

Most Republicans still gain nomination without fighting through primary campaigns, but signs are appearing that the day of the two-party primary is nearing.

A law aimed at the GOP was approved this year by the South Carolina Legislature. Three other Southern state legislatures will consider new election laws. The other states already have tightened primary rules.

Drastic Measures

Drastic measures have been proposed in Mississippi—on the heels of a startling Republican vote of 36 per cent in last year's race for governor.

One proposal would require a primary election even if a candidate is unopposed. This would hit Republicans who avoid primaries in Mississippi by running only one candidate per office.

In Louisiana, State Rep. Lanz Womack, a Democrat, said he would ask the Legislature in its May session to abolish all primaries and require two general elections instead.

Republicans nominate by convention in Louisiana.

Georgia Lawmakers

Georgia lawmakers will consider revision of election laws in a May special session. Proposals include a requirement that all parties hold primaries the same date.

"This would prevent anyone from voting in more than one primary," said Secretary of State Ben Fortson, a Democrat. Under Georgia law, the GOP nominates by convention.

South Carolina's Legislature enacted this year a law requiring candidates named by convention votes to be chosen before the qualifying deadline for the primary election.

IS YOUR DOG A REPUBLICAN?

The only way to tell is by drawing him into a political discussion. But you can't do that because he can't talk. And if you aren't feeding him properly, he can't talk to you about that either.

Feed him Rival though, and talk isn't needed. Inside every can of Rival is every last thing a dog needs. Meat, vitamins, minerals, proteins, nutrients, the works. Regular beef or liver flavor. Feed him nothing but Rival and you'll have a happy, healthy dog no matter which party gets in.

Lawyer Seeks Mental Data On Mrs. Dahlke

Henry P. Hughes Says Records Needed For Mate's Defense

MILWAUKEE (AP)—An Oshkosh attorney asked Circuit Judge Max Raskin Monday to order the Milwaukee County mental health center to release the records of a woman slain in Reno, Nev., and buried in the basement of an Oshkosh home.

Atty. Henry P. Hughes said in a petition that the records are needed for the defense of Douglas Dahlke, 27, charged with first degree murder in Reno in the shooting of his wife, Gloria, 21.

Dahlke, an Army enlisted man, has pleaded innocent, although Reno authorities testified at a preliminary hearing he admitted shooting his wife at 10 times. He is scheduled to go on trial June 15.

"A part of the mitigating circumstances in the fatal shooting of Gloria Dahlke is her conduct during the marriage," Hughes said in the petition. "Her conduct may have been affected by her mental condition."

Hughes said that Mrs. Dahlke was treated at the Milwaukee County mental health center in 1967 or 1968 and Dahlke's attorney in Reno had advised him "that it is essential that they have access to her record to properly present the matter to the court in Nevada."

Mrs. Dahlke allegedly was in Reno to obtain a divorce when she was killed.

Judge Raskin ordered mental health center officials to show cause why the records should not be released at a hearing May 25.

Exchanging Admiring Glances are Henry Grissman, 68-year-old retired Appleton resident, and David Huycke, 12, of Menasha. The pair met in the water Monday. It was a combination of excitement and heroics when Grissman dived into a lagoon and saved the drowning boy. (Post-Crescent Photo)

68-Year-Old Appleton Man Saves Menasha Youth From Drowning

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY

MENASHA — A 68-year-old Appleton man dived into the chilly, murky waters of Jefferson Park lagoon Monday afternoon and snatched a Menasha youngster from certain death.

Henry L. Grissman, 68, of 629 N. Bennett St., Appleton, was credited with saving the life of 12-year-old David Huycke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Huycke, 631 Broad St.

David, frightened but uninjured from his harrowing experience, was lucky to be attending fifth grade classes at Jefferson School here today.

The boy, who does not know how to swim, fell into the lagoon shortly before 4 p.m. Monday while retrieving a baseball, and was about to go under water for the third time when Grissman leaped in and pulled him to shore.

The near tragedy and heroic rescue took place at the edge of the park where the water is an estimated 8 to 10 feet deep.

Heard Splash

What was to have been a few hours of leisure fishing with his wife, Clara, turned into an exciting afternoon for Grissman, a 6 ft. 2 in. fellow who looks like he is knocking on 60 rather than 70.

"I heard a splash in the water not too far from us and thought some kids playing in the park had knocked a baseball into the water," Grissman recalled.

"We arrived at the park a few minutes before and I had just got our lines into the water," Grissman added.

The baseball did go into the water but so did young David Huycke who had ran to retrieve it but couldn't stop in time to prevent himself from toppling into the lagoon.

"The next thing I heard was a little girl shouting that her brother was in the water," Grissman said.

He ran to where David was splashing and bobbing about eight feet from shore.

"I shouted to him if he

Laird Honored by Overflow Crowd at Dinner at Wausau

1,500 Fete 7th District GOP Congressman; Many Not Seated

WAUSAU — Newman High School gymnasium and cafeteria didn't have enough seats Monday night for all the Seventh District Republicans who turned out to honor Rep. Melvin R. Laird, Marshfield, at a testimonial dinner.

Laird said he was "stunned" and "deeply gratified" by the crowd of 1,500. More than 2,000 tickets were sold for the dinner. About 100 persons had to be sent home for lack of space.

Explaining his congressional voting record which doesn't always follow solid GOP lines, Laird told the crowd "I've had to live with my conscience longer than I've had to live with my constituents."

The six-term congressman said he's "enjoyed being a member of Congress" for six terms, "but even more, I like to be called a professional politician. Government and politics together need to be taken seriously."

"Young Lawrence" About Laird, Robert Taft Jr., the main speaker and GOP congressman from Ohio, said "he's not only a politician, he's a statesman, a thinker and a philosopher."

"His book, 'A House Divided,' is only one of many services he's contributed to his party and to his country."

Taft described Laird as "sort of a young David Lawrence" — he's willing to face up to the facts and has the brains to do something about it."

Aeronautics Commission Advised to Hold Hearing On Formal Request by FAA

Chances are good that for the first time, an appropriation for Outagamie County's new airport, under construction in the Town of Greenville, will be included in the Federal Aviation Agency's annual budget request to Congress.

Mainly as a result of a meeting in Kansas City last week attended by representatives of the FAA, the Wisconsin Aeronautics Commission and Outagamie County, a meeting has been scheduled for June 1 in the Outagamie County Courthouse for the purpose of making the federal aid recommendation.

Denied Hearing Corporation Counsel Albert W. Ponath and Supv. Mark Catlin (Appleton 7), an attorney who is chairman of the county board's airport committee attended the Kansas City meeting.

Catlin told the board today that the county had requested a hearing by the aeronautics commission to make the aid request, but had been turned down.

He said T. K. Jordan, director of the state agency, ruled the request would be inappropriate since the Civil Aeronautics Board has not reached a final decision in the North Central Airlines regional airline stops hearing.

(The CAB examiner for the North Central investigation, Edwin T. Stodola, already has made a recommendation that Outagamie County continue to receive airline service at its new airport, in view of the fact that the proposed new regional airport between Oshkosh and Appleton cannot become a reality. Stodola said traffic origin should be the deciding factor in whether Oshkosh or Appleton gets the bulk of future North Central service.)

Catlin said Outagamie County "got a very friendly reception" at the meeting with the FAA in Kansas City.

Catlin explained the FAA has advised the State Aeronautics Commission that Outagamie's federal aid request "would be included in 1965 congressional budget request and to hold the necessary hearing."

He said the hearing would be held at the courthouse for the purpose of the state formally making the recommendation to the FAA.

In the past, the FAA has provided 50-50 "matching funds" for land acquisition and runway construction.

"This should make you happy," Catlin told Outagamie's supervisors, "because this is the first time our new airport will have been included in the FAA budget."

Eric was one of 420 students from throughout the United States and several foreign countries to enter exhibits in the fair. He went to the national fair as the winner of the Fox Valley Regional Science Fair.

Technical and historical tours were planned for the students and their advisers. Eric heard a lecture by Glenn T. Seaborg, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission; visited the Martin Research department where plasma and laser work is going on; toured Johns Hopkins Hospital, where he saw open heart surgery being performed; and toured the U.S. Food and Drug laboratories.

The Roehls also took historical tours of Baltimore, Washington, D. C., and Gettysburg, Pa.

A. G. Sharp Heads Fund Drive for Mental Health

A. G. Sharp, 1640 Palisades Drive, has been named chairman for the industrial section of the Outagamie County Mental Health Association's fund drive, now underway.

He is being assisted by Cecil R. Furlminger, 1742 N. Outagamie St., co-chairman.

He is a graduate of Cornell University and received his master or science degree in forestry from the University of Idaho. He has been with Kimberly-Clark since 1938.

Furlminger, a native of Massachusetts and a resident of Appleton since 1914, joined Appleton Machine Co. in 1927 and was with the company until 1954 when he returned as its vice president. ## Move From Huntley to Edison Protested by Group of Parents

Appleton Board of Education decided Monday not to transfer about 60 pupils from the Huntley School area to Edison School, a move protested by parents.

The board approved a plan proposed by Supt. of Schools Royce E. Kurtz to house the students at Huntley for the next school year, provided the industrial commission will okay using the physical education playground for classroom purposes.

If a large number of additional pupils enroll at Huntley during the summer, this plan may not be feasible, Kurtz warned.

Parents Protested

The area in question is that between E. Wisconsin Avenue and the railroad tracks. A delegation of about 20 parents protested the proposed boundary change at the April 13 board meeting, chiefly because of the danger to small children crossing Wisconsin Avenue.

Kurtz said the change was necessary because the predicted enrollment for next year was 769 pupils and the school's capacity is 650. The board postponed a decision until kindergarten enrollment was completed.

Some 24 parents attended the meeting Monday, and Ald. Al C. Fischer (18th Ward) presented a petition with about 220 signatures asking the Huntley boundaries not be changed.

Less Than Expected

Kurtz said enrollment is somewhat less than anticipated, making possible the new plan.

Under the proposal approved by the board, the craftsroom and physical education playground, now used as an office area, will be converted into classrooms for one year, and will continue to be used as classrooms. The plan will require an increase of one full-time and one half-time teacher at Huntley, Kurtz said, but it is possible there will be one less teacher needed at Edison.

Pupils from the rural area north and east of Huntley will be transported to Woodlawn School as originally proposed.

Second Proposal

A second proposal by Kurtz was to send Intermediate I, II and III pupils from the Huntley district to Edison and keep kindergarten, Primary I, II and III pupils at Huntley. This proposal would necessitate convert-

Artist, Restaurateur Clash Over Ownership Of Display Painting

A fight for art's sake was more or less quelled by employees of an Appleton restaurant late Monday night, but the loser went to Appleton police for more ammunition.

Police said that an 18-year-old restaurateur patron went to the restaurant Monday night and demanded that he be given a picture which was on display there.

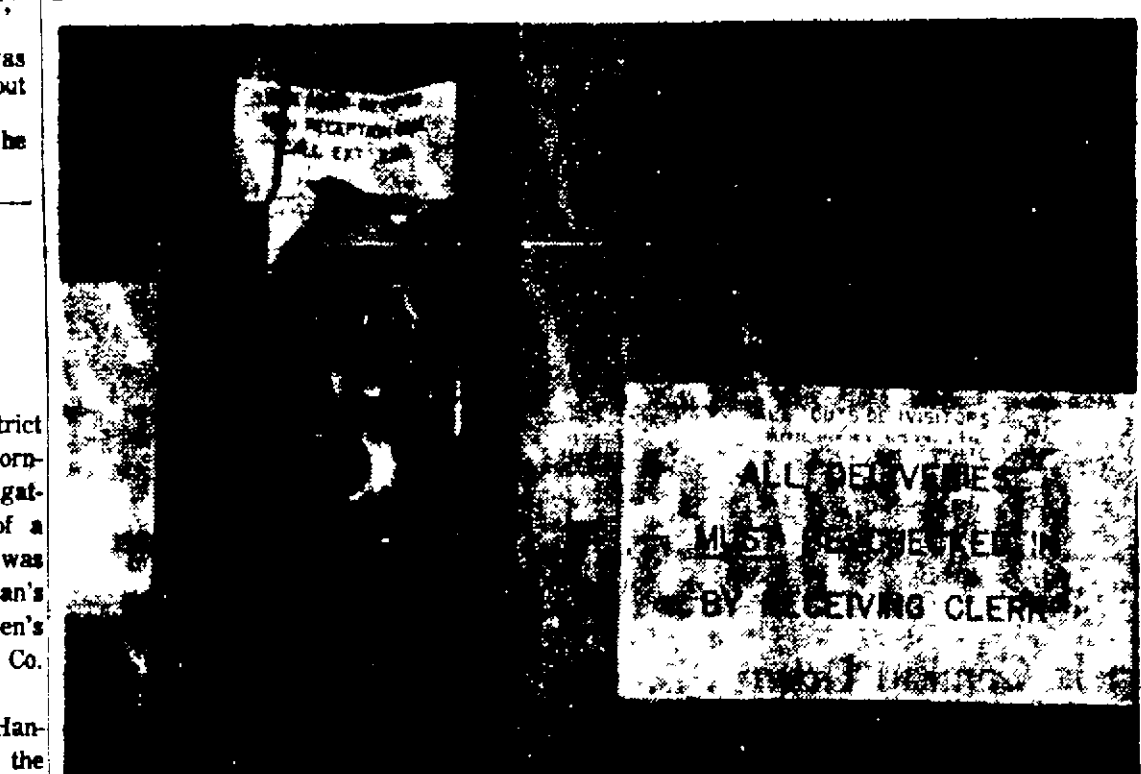

The picture, according to the patron, had been painted by him. Restaurant employees disagreed. When the argument got out of hand, the patron was asked to leave.

On the way out the door, the patron told police he was kicked by one of the employees. Police suggested that the man contact an attorney about the return of the painting and the alleged kick.

$2,500 More Manitowoc Will Hike Cost of Water Study

Consoer, Townsend & Associates, Chicago, has notified Appleton officials it will cost an additional $2,500 to compile statistics on Manitowoc in connection with a general water survey being conducted for this city.

Mayor Walter Koepke of Manitowoc met last week with Appleton officials and indicated his city might be interested in joining a Lake Michigan pipeline project.

The Chicago firm is conducting a water survey covering Appleton and six other communities in the Fox Cities area, and will make recommendations whether to go to Lake Michigan or Lake Winnebago for a future water supply.

Appleton is paying for the survey which is expected to cost about $20,000.

Referring to the meeting, Leo M. Zanzig, 627 S. Mueller St., of the Chicago firm wrote, "The purpose of the conference was to consider the feasibility of some kind of joint venture for a new water intake, water pump station and transmission plant for Lake Michigan water, all to be located in the vicinity of Manitowoc."

Rasm recalled Appleton officials wanted to know what additional work would be required if Manitowoc was considered. He outlined studies that would be involved and the additional expense.

Rasm requested city officials to let him know if they wanted to include Manitowoc. His letter will be forwarded to the board of public works.

Civil Rights Bill Fears Expressed By Wallace Backer

Twin City C of C Groups Hear Mrs. Herbstreith

NEENAH — Fears of the far-reaching effects in the country if the Civil Rights Bill is passed were expressed by Mrs. Dolores Herbstreith, Oshkosh, state campaign manager for Ala. Gov. George Wallace, when she spoke before the joint meeting of the Congressional Action Committee (CAC) and the State Legislative Action Committee (SLAC) of the Chamber of Commerce of Neenah-Menasha this morning at the Valley Inn.

She said the bill, if passed, could make the U.S. attorney general a virtual dictator as far as moral issues go and also could take the issue of morality from the home and church and put it in the hands of the federal government.

Questioned following the morning program, Mrs. Herbstreith said she felt that the bill, now before the Senate, would be killed if it has to go back to the House of Representatives because of Senate amendments.

“We’ll Pass”

She also said that the bill could be passed by the Senate without major changes, making it law, but “I kind of feel that it won’t.”

The passage of the bill into law, while questionable, does not seem to be assured, she added.

A question and answer period followed the talk, with a committee member asking what Gov. Wallace’s future is.

“I don’t know,” the Oshkosh woman answered, also saying that the Alabama governor didn’t know his future either, as it depended upon the results of some of the primaries to come in various states.

Indians

Another question concerned the Wisconsin Indian population and whether these people would be affected greatly by the passage of the bill.

“No, I don’t think so,” Mrs. Herbstreith answered, adding that the federal government “is not interested in the Indian. They don’t have enough votes.”

In response to another question, she said she felt the demonstrations by colored persons in the South, when the law is broken, hurt the enthusiasm of the rest of the people of the U.S. for the colored peoples’ cause.

“The issue involved in the possible passage of the Civil Rights Bill is not that of segregation versus de-segregation, but rather is one of freedom,” she stated.

She added that the passage of the bill would make the laws and courts of the land merely extensions of social groups.

One of the other results of the passage of the bill would be that race, creed and sex, not ability, would become criteria for employment.

She added that of the 11 titles in the bill as it now stands five of them deny the individual the right of trial by jury.

The present alternate solution to the discrimination in the country, if the bill is not passed, is education, Mrs. Herbstreith said.

Program chairmen for the morning program were John Galloway and Leo Mack.

Expect Trees Will be In Bloom for Cherry Queen Crowning

STURGEON BAY — The Door County countryside probably will be in full bloom for the crowning of the 1964 cherry blossom queen Saturday. Trees starkly barren only 10 days ago, have responded quickly to the recent soaking rains and warm sunshine, and blossoms started to appear last Sunday.

Ten Door County high school students will flower forth at the Sturgeon Bay high school auditorium to match beauty and talents for the blossom queen title. The cherry industry and the Chamber of Commerce are sponsoring the two-hour pageant which will begin at 7:15 p.m.

Contestants are from each junior and senior high school class in the county and have won their places in the competition through elimination rivalries in their respective schools.

Throughout the season, the queen will represent the cherry industry and the Chamber of Commerce at numerous functions.

Mobile Parking Meter Gets Brief Taste of College Life

This is the story of the educated parking meter that went to college.

Appleton police were alerted to the meter's intentions when it was reported missing from in front of the First Presbyterian Church, 337 E. College Ave. near the Lawrence College campus Monday afternoon.

Carried Piggyback

They learned of the meter's whereabouts from a citizen called about 7 p.m. and said the meter “was up a tree” near the campus.

An employee of the city parking meter department was sent to pick up the meter, but when he arrived at the tree, he observed the meter being carried piggyback in the direction of Lawrence's Brokaw Hall, a men's dormitory.

Detectives went to the hall and a room-to-room search was conducted before the meter was discovered.

It has been taken to the Appleton Police Station where it is being stored in the police garage until it can be returned to duty. Police said the meter was not damaged.

ing the classroom into a classroom and the employment of an additional half-time kindergarten teacher at Huntley.

If there is a large influx of pupils during the summer, there may be no choice but to use this plan as an alternate, Kurtz said. The average increase during the summer in the Huntley area has been 30 to 40 pupils, he said.

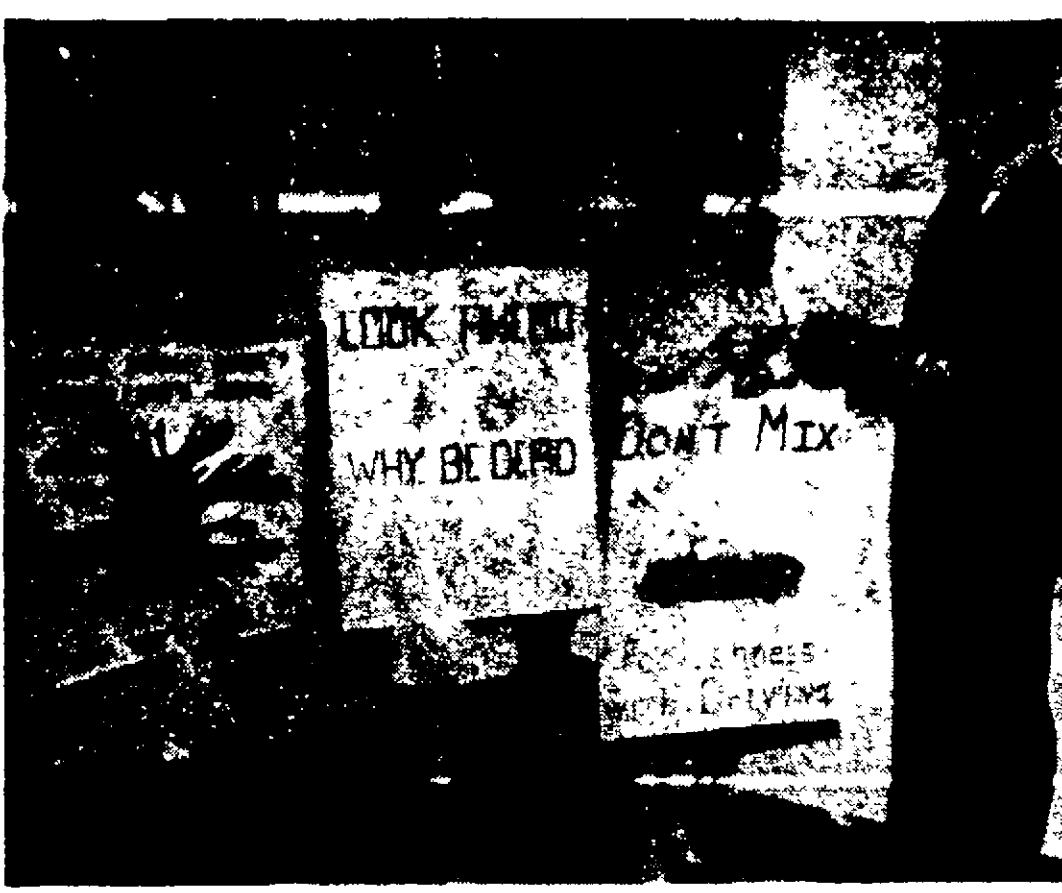

When the new Einstein Junior High School is opened in the fall of 1965, it may be possible to house some elementary school pupils there for a few years as a temporary measure until new northwest and northside elementary schools are built, Kurtz said.

overcrowding at St. Theresa Catholic School, Kurtz said.

The next elementary school to be built will be on the northwest school site, according to present plans. The board also is seeking a northside elementary school site.

One mother suggested that mothers from the Huntley area might help teachers on a voluntary basis. Mrs. George Moore, board president, said the board appreciates the fact that the parents want to help but that a plan like this probably would have to be worked out on a system-wide basis.

Commenting on school boundary changes, Kurtz said, "We apparently have failed to properly inform people of the community about the problems we run into in housing pupils. We spend a tremendous amount of time working on boundaries, and do not make light-hearted changes. We have to take consideration first of the educational program. We are as concerned as anyone about the safety of boys and girls."

Injured were Don La Haye, Menominee, Mich., conductor, and Robert Cariveau, Green Bay, brakeman. They had been riding in the caboose.

An unidentified motorist saw fire burning from downed high-voltage wires along the tracks, and picked the injured men from the crumpled car. The motorist took them to Calumet Memorial Hospital where they were treated and released. The pair suffered multiple bruises from being tossed about in the wildly bounding car.

Full-scale cleanup operations were expected to begin sometime this afternoon. Wreckers were on their way to the scene from Green Bay and Milwaukee.

Three bulldozers were brought to the scene to aid in clearing away the debris. Officials of the railroad said they had no idea how long it would take to clear the area, but there were unofficial estimates of up to one week.

Cargo on the train was largely paper products from Strange Paper Mill, Menasha. Two "piggy-back" trucks were being taken to Milwaukee.

Just before the crash, the train had stopped in Hilbert to switch cars. It had left Green Bay at 10:10 p.m.

Jarkowski and railroad officials investigating the crash said they did not know the cause.

"First I knew of the derailment was when the car just behind the engine went off the tracks," the engineer said.

The Milwaukee-bound train was traveling about 40 miles per hour on a straight stretch of track through farmland when the mishap occurred at a town intersection.

Spokesmen for the line said total cost of the damage could not yet be estimated. They said last fall's crash had no bearing on the mishap today.

Wausau Dinner Speaker Scored Triumph In Campaign for At-Large Ohio House Seat

BY DICK LYNES
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

WAUSAU — Perhaps "Master Republican" is an appropriate name for Robert Taft Jr., main speaker here Monday at a testimonial dinner for Rep. Melvin R. Laird, Seventh District GOP congressman from Marshfield.

Taft

The "master" tag has two explanations.

First, he's the son of the late Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio, who was called "Mr. Republican."

Second, he deserves the "master" label because of recent successes in Ohio politics. In his first try for elective office, he won election as Ohio's congressman-at-large in 1960.

Popularity Shown
Last week, running against one of the top GOP vote-getters in Ohio, Secretary of State Ted Brown, he captured 506,551 votes in the U.S. Senate primary. His opponent received only 139,985 votes.

The popularity of the Taft name is apparent because since Robert Taft Sr. died, two Democrats have been elected to the Senate—Young and Sen. Frank Lausche. Despite this Democratic success on the statewide level, Taft's election to Congress as an at-large delegate also was achieved on a statewide level.

The Taft family success in politics was not and still isn't a result of oratory brilliance. The congressman's grandfather, President and later Chief Justice of the Supreme Court William Howard Taft, and his father, Sen. Robert Taft, never aroused political audiences with fiery speeches. Their success came in the more intricate area of leadership and persuasion within the inner circle of Washington politics.

Political Name
Young Taft, although more trim than his portly grandfather and more handsome than his thin, bespectacled father, is not a fiery orator, but his authoritative, even-toned manner of speaking is effective. This advantageous trait would be a political asset even without the Taft name.

Taft told reporters Monday night his opponents try to make much out of his alleged "using the family name for political gain, but the people don't let me forget it."

He said, "Even here in Wausau, someone came up to me with a picture of my grandmother, telling me that she had met her in the early 1900s. Everywhere I go people are giving me pictures of my ancestors. It seems to make them like me, although I would prefer to be respected for my own merits."

"Sense of Warmth"

Taft admitted he had a "sense of warmth from being in Wausau" because in 1952 his father began his presidential campaign in Wausau. Sen. Taft took 26 of Wisconsin's 30 delegates to the national GOP convention.

"My sense of warmth stems from the support and welcome you gave my father here and throughout Wisconsin," he said. But being "the son of a political family" has its disadvantages too.

He told about loaded questions he received from a reporter during a televised news conference in the recent Ohio senatorial primary.

"He asked me to compare my views on civil rights with those of my great-grandfather," Taft said, "so you see what I have to face."

Conservative Cause
The association with Sen. Taft with the conservative cause and the attempts by young Taft's foes of trying to capitalize on it seem invalid, most observers say, because Sen. Taft's conservatism was different from today's. In fact, it embraced many of today's "liberal" ideas.

Young Taft's stands on sociopolitical and civil rights affairs certainly differ from today's southerner who embraces the conservative label, these observers say.

After "Mr. Republican" then, "Master Republican" would seem to be the logical following act.

State 26 Closed in Winnebago County For New Pavement

OSHKOSH — State 26 from U.S. 41 to Rosendale was closed to traffic this morning as contractors began ripping up the pavement at the Fond du Lac County line in connection with a reconstruction project.

Traffic will be detoured along U.S. 41 to State 23 west of Fond du Lac and then on State 23 to Rosendale. Traffic headed for Madison and Waupun can continue on U.S. 41 to State 151 at Fond du Lac and then follow State 151.

Leon Morrissey, county highway commissioner, said 4.75 miles of the highway is being rebuilt from U.S. 41 to the Fond du Lac County line with the work extending about 1,000 feet into Fond du Lac County.

All of the present pavement will be removed. A new hot asphalt surface will be added in sharp curves are being relocated and hills cut down in order to improve vision along the highway. The new road will have a 24-foot travel portion with 10-foot shoulders on each side.

could swim and the boy kept holding his hand over his mouth and nose and shook his head as if to say "no," Grissman commented.

Grissman then jumped into the water thinking the area was shallow but couldn't touch bottom with his feet and started swimming out to the boy.

"His head had already gone under twice by the time I got to him," Grissman said. He recounted that although "scared to death," David did not fight as he towed the youngster to shore.

Took Him Home
"If the youngster hadn't held his breath the way he did I think he would have been a goner," commented Grissman, a retired employee of Appleton Structural Steel Co.

Grissman and his wife laid David on his stomach, wrapped him in a blanket and when it appeared he was only suffering shock, took the boy home in their car.

David's father, an employee at Marathon for 16 years, had been home ill with a virus but had rushed to nearby Jefferson Park when told his son had fallen into the inlet.

"When I arrived there, I couldn't find him and was told some people took him home," Roy Huycke said.

In the meantime, Grissman went home and took a warm bath and put on dry clothes. "The water was mighty cool and pretty dirty," he commented. Grissman said he didn't know about distance, but considered himself a pretty good swimmer.

Later, the Grissmans returned to the Huycke home to check how David was doing. Everything okay, they went back to the park and resumed their fishing.

"I met him personally and told him how grateful we were for what he had done," the elder Huycke said. "There aren't many people around who would have done what he did."

"Words just couldn't express our appreciation," added the father of seven. "The Grissmans are real nice people."

David was a mighty thankful lad, too. Although his near drowning was a frightening thing, it wasn't as painful as an experience six years ago.

When David was six years old he was struck by a car near the family's rural Neenah home, breaking one leg, fracturing the other in six places and requiring 26 stitches to close a facial laceration.

Johnson Tells Latins Of Increased Funds

Argentine Feels President Sincere After Hearing of $40 Million More in Credits

WASHINGTON (AP) — With money and friendly persuasion, President Johnson has moved to dispel Latin Americans' doubts about his interest in their problems and in the Alliance for Progress.

"I felt he was sincere and warm," an Argentine diplomat said at the White House Monday night after hearing Johnson announce $40 million in fresh credits under the alliance to 12 Latin-American nations.

Johnson said the United States will double its assistance activities under the program and "there will be twice as much accomplished as in any previous year."

Loan Agreements
After addressing the Latin-American ambassadors to Washington and the chiefs of missions to the Organization of American States, Johnson signed 12 separate loan agreements covering 13 countries. Normally such agreements are announced by the State Department.

They will help fight malaria in Brazil, train farmers in Bolivia, for the first time establish three rural electric cooperatives serving 10,000 homes and farms in the Colombian countryside.

Peru Land Reform
They also will bring credits and assistance to 21,000 small farms in the land reform and colonization program of Peru, help construct a new airport in Chile, help Mexico establish a national agricultural center and provide Food for Peace commodities to Ecuador.

Although the $40 million was a comparatively modest amount by the standards of current aid projects, it was aimed for maximum effect.

Johnson spoke to the Latin diplomats in a persuasive tone, departing frequently from his prepared text.

Economic Progress
The President went to the crux of Latin-American problems when he linked economic progress and representative democracy.

Without representative democracy, "and the freedom it nourishes," he said, material progress is an aimless enterprise.

Destroying the dignity of spirit it is meant to liberate. We will continue to join you to encourage democracy until we build a hemisphere of free nations from Tierra del Fuego to the Arctic Circle."

After his speech Johnson invited the diplomats to join him in another room at the White House for a small talk. "After all we are all brothers," he said.

Pyramid Climber Sets Record for Russian Premier
CAIRO (AP) — Egypt's champion pyramid climber streaked to the top of the Great Cheops Pyramid a minute faster for Soviet Premier Khrushchev than he did for Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai.

Chou gave him a fountain pen five months ago. Khrushchev gave him four kisses.

"A kiss is worth a thousand pounds," said the climber, Hafnawi Abdel Fayed. "Furthermore, I was happier to meet Khrushchev and I like him more."

Hafnawi's climb is a standard sideshow for visitors to the 481-foot monument.

As Khrushchev watched the 37-year-old Egyptian streak to the top in four minutes, he said to Field Marshal Abdel Hakim Amer: "Give me a week to train and I will race you."

"I would need two years to get ready for that," joked Amer, 41. "That's why I picked you."

He said the 70-year-old Khrushchev, "I always choose my competitors carefully."

Manuscript of Opera Is Found
NEW YORK (AP) — The missing manuscript of the late Marc Blitzstein's last and uncompleted opera reportedly has been found by the manager of a used car lot.

The Metropolitan Opera, which commissioned the work, "Sacco and Vanzetti," said Monday the discovery was made after the composer's car was put up for sale.

Blitzstein, 58, who adapted and translated the long-running off-Broadway hit, "The Three Penny Opera," was killed in an alleged robbery-beating in Martinique, West Indies, in January.

The Met quoted Leonard Bernstein, New York Philharmonic music director and Blitzstein's literary executor, as saying the first and second acts of "Sacco and Vanzetti" seemed substantially finished.

Reynolds Gives His Support To Pal, Lucey

Other Candidates Would Have to Oppose Governor

Post-Dispatch Staff Writer

MADISON — Gov. John Reynolds has described Patrick J. Lucey of the Democratic party organization as his most intimate political friend.

The governor validated that description here Monday when he forfeited his own rarely cancelled weekly news conference with Capitol reporters to permit Lucey to use the same convenient time to make his announcement of his candidacy for lieutenant governor on the Democratic ticket with maximum effect.

Persuaded Lucey
The governor acknowledged he had been persuading Lucey to make a bid for a place on the 1964 Democratic ticket for many months, loaned Lucey his press relations officer for the occasion and turned out most of the members of his own executive office staff to applaud Lucey when he read his candidacy declaration for reporters and cameramen.

Contemporary Democratic leaders of the state have all eyes on the idea of "endorsement" of candidates for party nominations, such as delegate endorsements employed by Republicans to aid favored candidates in the open primary elections.

But the Reynolds-Lucey alliance makes it plain to anybody else who may want to run for the No. 2 nomination on the Democratic ticket that he will be required to challenge the entire machinery represented by the Reynolds state administration and its loyalists in the party organization.

Influential Role
The Lucey candidacy is the second in which the governor, who has not yet admitted that he will run for a second term, played an influential part.

He was among those who successfully urged Bronson C. LaFollette, scion of a family famous in state politics in earlier decades, to declare himself for the nomination for attorney general on the party ticket.

Young LaFollette also attended the Lucey declaration ceremonies Monday, indicating he wants to be known as a part of the Reynolds ticket team this year.

Robles Topping Favored Arias In Panama Vote

Leader Advocates Toughness Toward U. S. About Canal

PANAMA (AP) — Official returns from more than half the vote in Sunday's presidential election gave a commanding lead today to government candidate Roberto Arias.

Robles, advocate of a tough policy toward American rights in the Panama Canal Zone.

Electoral tribunal figures from 704 of 1,144 precincts gave Robles 66,447 votes to 73,131 for Dr. Arnulfo Arias, a slight favorite before the election.

About half the estimated 130,000 votes cast in Panama Province, where Arias had his greatest strength, were yet to be counted. It was believed the former president would have to take more than 70 per cent of the uncounted votes in the capital province to win.

Robles Supporters
Sullenness replaced the carnival atmosphere that had prevailed in the Arias camp. Some hunted at government manipulation, claiming that the Electoral Tribunal gave Robles an early edge to provoke Arias followers into violence. Then the National Guard could jail Arias and other leaders of his party.

A Robles victory could portend difficulty for the United States in negotiations on the Panama Canal treaty. Although all seven presidential candidates demand revision of the treaty and it was not an issue in the campaign, Arias was considered more sympathetic to the United States than Robles.

Backs Robles
President Roberto Chari, prevented by law from succeeding himself, had given the government coalition's backing to Robles, a 54-year-old banker-politician.

Arias, 63, drew his chief support from the lower-middle and lower classes and a large following of women.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A leader of the National States Rights party says a theater here has agreed to suspend showing of a movie with an integrated cast.

Dr. Edward R. Fields, a leader in the NSRP, said both his group and the Ku Klux Klan protested showing of the movie "Free, White and 21" at a local drive-in. The States Rights organization picketed the theater Sunday night.

Fields said further picketing was planned Monday night but was canceled when the theater manager agreed to withdraw the picture.

Pickets waving anti-Jewish placards and Confederate flags drove away all but a few potential customers Sunday, police said.

Senators Defeat Orioles, 6-4, on Rally in Seventh

Albie Pearson Socks Homer, 2 Doubles as Angels Cop, 6-5

BY MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Stu Miller has been hypnotizing batters for years, but he may have put his first base runner to sleep.

It happened Monday night at Washington, where the Orioles lost to the Senators 6-4, despite Miller's performance and an extra second baseman.

Miller, who seems to lull batters into submission with his slow stuff, got the call from the Orioles bullpen in the seventh inning with the score tied 3-3 and two Senators on base—Don Lock at third and Ken Hunt at first.

Miller proceeded to loft four

Manawa Deals Clintonville '9' 5-3 Setback

Steinbach Gets Triumph in Non-Loop Tilt

CLINTONVILLE — Manawa High School bunched a pair of runs in the second and three in the fourth to score a 5-3 victory over Clintonville in a non-conference game here Monday afternoon.

Clintonville had the edge in the hitting department, 9 to 8, but two Wolves' pitchers held the Truickers to single runs in the third, fourth and sixth innings.

Bill Steinbach started for Manawa and was relieved by Frank Lieschow in the sixth. Steinbach was the winner and he recorded five strikeouts while walking three. Lieschow fanned two and walked one.

Don Hedtke started and was the loser for the Truickers. He was relieved by Sam Hogan in the fourth and Hedtke was charged with all five runs. Hedtke had two strikeouts while walking six and Hogan fanned four while issuing one pass.

Manawa did not commit an error, while Clintonville had three miscues.

Jim Buschke drove in two runs for the winners with a single in the second.

Gary Tveten paced Clintonville, with 2-for-2, while Bill Melzer, Bob Korb and Hogan also collected two hits each.

Reds Place Chet Nichols On Waivers

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds asked waivers Monday on relief pitcher Chet Nichols and purchased third baseman Steve Boros from their San Diego farm club.

The waivers for Nichols are for the purpose of giving the left-hander his unconditional release. He has appeared in only three games and pitched three innings with no record. The Reds got him as a free agent last winter.

With the purchase of Boros, the Reds still must release two players in order to get down to the required 25-player limit by midnight Wednesday.

BATTING—Don Zimmer, Senators, stroked three singles and a two-run triple as Washington defeated Baltimore 6-4.

PITCHING—Dick Farrell, Colts, brought his record to 4-1, scattering 10 hits in 4-1 victory over National League leading San Francisco.

Javier Stars As Cardinals Beat Phils

BY BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Anytime a pitcher comes up with a 4-1 record for the Houston Colts, he had to have something going for him. Dick Farrell, however, has an even more impressive statistic: He limited Willie Mays to 1-for-4.

The Colt right-hander, a hulking, 226-pounder, won his fourth game Monday night, pitching his eighth-place mates to a 4-1 triumph over National League leading San Francisco.

He lowered his earned run average to a respectable 2.14, which is even more respectable when it is considered that all his decisions have been against the league's tougher clubs: two victories over St. Louis, including a four-hitter, and a win and loss to Los Angeles.

And against the Giants, he allowed streaking Willie a single his first time up, then retired him three times in a row, striking him out once with two men on base. This, of course, is quite an accomplishment.

Most hitters wouldn't be completely disappointed with 1-for-4. And the single did keep Mays' hitting streak alive at 18 games. But for Willie—off on one of the greatest starts in the game's history—it lopped 10 points off his average, reducing it to .471.

In fact, he hurts his average in any game he doesn't get two hits.

Was 14-13

Farrell, who was 14-13 with the ninth-place club last season, scattered 10 hits about as effectively as possible and got the benefit of some strange Giant base-running.

Jesus Alou, leading off the first, singled, but was thrown out trying to make third on brother Matty's single. Mays then singled, but Farrell pitched out of it.

And in the fifth, Jesus doubled with one out and held up at third on Matty's single. Mays struck out and Matty broke for second. The throw went to second and Matty stopped. But Nellie Fox made a quick throw to

Steve Owen Seriously Ill In New York

ONEIDA, N.Y. (AP)—Former New York Giants' football coach Steve Owen, veteran of many a gridiron battle, is fighting a serious illness in a hospital oxygen tent.

"Stout Steve," as he was known during his 22-year coaching career with the Giants, was admitted to Oneida City Hospital Saturday.

A hospital spokesman said today the 66-year-old Enid, Okla., native was in critical condition and in an oxygen tent.

The nature of his illness was not disclosed.

Owen, who retired as the Giants' coach in 1953, suffered a heart attack two years ago but was said to have made a complete recovery.

Lawrence '9' Closes Season Wednesday

Meets Knights, Seeks Fifth Straight Win

The Lawrence College baseball team will close its season at Goodland Field against St. Norbert at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The Vikings, fresh from a doubleheader sweep by identical 1-0 scores against St. Olaf over the weekend, finished the Midwest Conference season with a 4-4 slate. Lawrence dropped their only non-loop tilt to Oshkosh State and will be attempting to even its non-league mark.

Coch Clyde Rusk, in reflecting on the recent twin victory, said:

"The two games were undoubtedly our best team efforts of the season. The outfield play was superb and the defensive play was very good, teamwise, also. Of course the pitching would have to be good to post shutouts in both games, and needless to say, it was."

Rusk is, as yet, undecided on who will open on the mound against St. Norbert. Chris Isley, Joe Haroutunian, or Steve Bernstein are the top candidates for the assignment.

Bernstein owns three of the Viking triumphs.

The Vikings, who have won four straight games, are assured of at least a tie for second place in the Northern Division.

Fischer to Start as Braves Open 3-Game Set With Mets

Bragan Confident Relievers Will 'Straighten Out' Soon

NEW YORK (AP) — Milwaukee manager Bobby Bragan resumes his traveling juggling act tonight when the Braves open a three-game series with the New York Mets in plush Shea Stadium.

Bragan has juggled his starting lineup in five straight games since catcher Ed Bailey was injured. Despite all the switching tactics the Braves have won only two of six outings since leaving home.

Bragan didn't get a chance to try a different lineup Monday—and Milwaukee gained ground in the National League race. The third place Braves visited the World's Fair on an open date and moved to within one game of Philadelphia and two of front-running San Francisco as both the Phils and Giants lost.

Before heading for the fair grounds, Bragan explained how things were going for the Braves.

"We score 18 runs against San Francisco and lose all three games," he said. "We score 12 runs in Philadelphia and lose two. We score five runs in the first inning at Pittsburgh Sunday and lose 6-5."

Although disappointed, Bragan was optimistic as he added: "It doesn't figure to stay that way. When you score as many runs as that you expect to win more. The relief men have been having a little trouble, but they ought to straighten out."

Right-hander, Hank Fischer, owner of a 3-1 record, was named to try and get the Braves' off to a good start in New York's new stadium. Fischer is due to be opposed by southpaw Al Jackson, who has half of the Mets' six victories while losing three games.

Bragan had been impressed by the balance of the league in his first swing around the circuit. He predicted the usual down-to-the-wire scramble for the pennant.

49er Owners Have No Plans For Sale of NFL Franchise

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — No sale of the San Francisco 49ers is contemplated and General Manager Lou Spadina will take over sole operational control of the club.

Mrs. Josephine Heintzelman, and Mrs. Elizabeth Morabito, the controlling owners, made the declaration in a statement to end speculation of reorganization or sale of the National Football League club.

Mrs. Heintzelman of Eugene, Ore., is the widow of Anthony Morabito, who founded the club in 1946. He died in 1957, and his younger brother, Victor, who took over as president of the club then, succumbed to a heart attack on Sunday.

The widows said they will continue to operate as controlling owners and neither they nor any of the other partners contemplate any sale of interest now or in the future.

Mrs. Heintzelman reportedly owns 30 per cent of the 49er stock and Victor Morabito owned 25 per cent.

Spadina has been associated with the 49ers since the club was founded.

A Rosary will be said for Morabito at 8 p.m. tonight at Carew and English Mortuary, San Francisco, a solemn requiem mass will be held at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday at St. Monica's Church, with interment at Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the NFL and Frankie Albert, former star quarterback and coach of the 49ers, will be among the honorary pall bearers and neither they nor any of the other partners

Kimberly High Wins, 5-1, Over New London '9'

VandenBoogaard Allows 4 Hits In M-E Contest

NEW LONDON — The Kimberly High School baseball team defeated New London, 5-1, here Monday behind the 4-hit pitching of Jim VandenBoogaard.

Loose Jim McDaniel allowed only five hits—all singles, but the Bulldogs committed six errors. Kimberly now has a 1-1 record in the Mid-Eastern Conference, while New London is 1-2.

Dennis Kroner's single drove in a second-inning run and sent Kimberly off to a lead it never relinquished. An error allowed another Papermaker run in the third. Kimberly made it 5-0 in the top of the seventh on three hits—by "Whitey" Nienhaus, Jim VandenBoogaard and Gary Hurst.

Joe Mullarkey's run-scoring single in the seventh broke VandenBoogaard's shutout. VandenBoogaard, whose mates played errorless ball, struck out six and walked two. Among the hits he permitted was a double by Gary Glocke. McDaniel fanned six and walked one.

Koufax, Podres Ailing As Cubs Series Starts

Charlie Murrell, Of White Sox, Put on Wavers

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago White Sox maintained their percentage lead over the New York Yankees atop the American League through their game with the Twins at Minneapolis on Monday night.

The Yankees were idle, so the Sox ratcheted ahead .857 to .883.

Ray Herbert, 1-1, is scheduled to face the Twins' Jim Kaat, 3-1, tonight.

The Cubs had an off day Monday and will open a three-game home stand today with the Los Angeles Dodgers. It will be Earl Bahl, 3-1, against Joe Mauer, 1-1.

Dick Ellsworth is slated to meet Sandy Koufax Wednesday. But during workouts in Wrigley Field Monday, Koufax complained of an aching back. Manager Walt Alton said he got chilled by a cold wind when he pitched in San Francisco Saturday.

Podres Leaves Field

Also during the workout Johnny Podres felt something pop in his arm again and left the field. Alton says he will have to wait and see about him. Podres originally hurt his arm when he was hit inside of the elbow by a Warren Spahn pitch more than two weeks ago.

He hasn't pitched for 16 days but appeared to be working back into shape for an appearance this weekend.

Meanwhile, reports from the Sox indicate that center fielder Jim Landis has asked manager Al Lopez to play him or trade him. Landis, a regular since 1957, tripled in four trips on the season's opening day but hasn't been at the plate since.

Grange Will Retire From Bear Telecasts

CHICAGO (AP)—The Tribune said today that Red Grange has announced from his home in Indiana Lake Estates, Fla., that he will no longer announce the telecasts of Chicago Bears' football games.

The paper said a Columbia Broadcasting System official confirmed that Grange, one time star for the Bears and the University of Illinois, has retired. No replacement has been selected but the Tribune said that among the candidates is Jack Buck, a St. Louis Cardinals' baseball announcer.

George Connor, former Notre Dame and Bear star, will continue to do the color of the Bears' games.

Grange's retirement ends a long association with the Bears. He signed with the club at the end of the college season in his senior year, 1925, at Illinois. After one year with the Bears he organized his own team, the New York Yankees, in the American League. Later he returned and played for the Bears for seven years before retiring in 1934.

Name Pete Pilote Top Defenseman

MONTREAL (AP)—Pierre (Pete) Pilote, aggressive captain of the rough and tumble Chicago Black Hawks, was named the National Hockey League's outstanding defenseman for the second straight year today.

For his selection by hockey writers and broadcasters in each of the circuit's six cities, 1963 and wound up with a 2-4 Pilote will receive the James Norris Memorial Trophy plus $1,500 from the league.

The Chicago Sun-Times said: "Lopez said he withdrew Landis from the lineup because he came to him a few minutes before game time of the season's second game, said he had had an argument with Eddie Short (general manager) and then asked Lopez if he could be traded."

The Sox announced that they had trimmed their roster to 26 — one over the out-of-town limit by midnight Wednesday — by placing veteran outfielder Charley Maxwell on waivers, leading to his unconditional release.

"I would like to keep Murrell in the organization if I can," said Short. "I've offered him a job, and he's going to decide what he wants to do."

Art Fowler and Foytack Dropped By Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dropping pitchers Art Fowler and Paul Foytack has shaved the Los Angeles Angel roster to 26. It has to be at 25 by midnight tonight.

The Angels asked waivers of contracts for the two veteran righthanders Monday afternoon, saying they would be given unconditional releases.

One source, however, said Fowler, 41, will stay with the Angels in some capacity, perhaps as a pitcher of batting practice. He has spent 10 seasons in the majors, the 33-year-old Foytack, 11.

Fowler's record for his majors career is 58-58. He was 5-3 in each of the circuit's six cities, 1963 and wound up with a 2-4 Pilote will receive the James Norris Memorial Trophy plus $1,500 from the league.

Colts' Farrell Stops Giants

Farrell and Jones was picked off for a wild double play.

St. Louis edged Philadelphia 3-2 and Cincinnati rallied for a 5-4 victory over Pittsburgh in the only other game on the short National League schedule.

Bill O'Dell held Houston to one hit for five innings before the Colts broke through. Eddie Kasko singled and took second on an error. Mike White's single scored Kasko with the run that broke a 1-1 tie and Jon Wynn's single brought Bob Shaw in to replace O'Dell.

Singles by Rusty Staub and Al Spangler drove in two more runs and the Colts had all they needed.

Pete Rose's three-run homer in the eighth inning provided the Reds with their victory at Pittsburgh, even though the Pirates rallied for two in their half of the inning.

Julian Javier's seventh inning homer drove in all the Cardinal runs and gave lefty Ray Sadecki just enough working room to make his six-hitter stand up.

Parnelli Jones Equals Own Unofficial '500' Lap Mark

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Defending 500-mile race champion Parnelli Jones equaled his unofficial one-lap speed record of 156.223 miles per hour in practice at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway Monday.

Jones' lap came during afternoon run after both he and hard-charging Bobby Marshman reached 156.1 during the morning before rain temporarily halted the practice.

Chuck Rodace escaped injury when his American Rubber and Plastic special ran over an exhaust pipe bracket from another car spun, slid 1,446 feet and hit both walls on the main straightaway. The car was badly damaged.

The scorching speeds pointed to a least a six-way battle for the pole position in the race and an almost certain record in Saturday's opening of the qualifications.

Jones' fastest lap was clocked by the speedway's electric timing device, which recorded the run to hundredth of a second.

Jones drove the same conventional roadster he piloted to victory last year. Marshman toured the asphalt oval in a Ford-powered rear-engine entry.

Two-time winner Roger Ward, also in a rear-engine car, hit 155.4 miles an hour. Bobby Unser, driving one of the famed but fussy Novi cars, reached 154.9. And talkative Eddie Sachs, in another rear-engine creation, hit 154.6.

Also figuring in Saturday's pole fight will be 1961 champion A. J. Foyt, who also has been consistently running at speeds above the official qualifying record of 151 miles an hour which Jones set last year.

Sachs won the pole in 1960 and 1961, and Jones captured it the last two years.

Term 'Chinese Bandits' Dropped by Army '11'

BY WILL GRIMLEY

Associated Press Sports Writer

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP)—World political tensions have claimed another victim—the famed "Chinese Bandits" of the Army football team.

From now on, just call them "Bandits."

That's the official word from the U.S. Military Academy where a spokesman, who preferred anonymity, explained:

"The term 'Chinese Bandits' was given to our football defensive unit. It was intended to mean a tough bunch of guys. Also it gave the second team some dignity.

"But it had an undesirable international connotation, and we've had some criticism ever since it started. You see there are different kinds of mean guys — good, mean guys and mean, mean guys.

"There was the idea that the mean, mean guys were Chinese Communists. Rather than create an international incident, we decided it best to skip it."

No Political Pressure

Officially, Army denied that there were any political pressures which dictated the dropping of the Oriental tag, which will mean also the end of the Chinese laundry chants and coolie hats at West Point games.

No phone call from the Pentagon. No complaint from Chiang Kai-shek or Chou En-lai.

"We just decided that the word 'Bandits' was simpler," said Coach Paul Dietzel, who said he got the inspiration for the "Chinese Bandits" out of a comic strip 15 years ago.

"We only intended that the team be known as 'Bandits.' It has nothing to do with the Chinese." He didn't explain the chants and the coolie hats.

This is not the first time nicknames of athletic teams have been changed for political, or other, reasons.

Right after World War II, when the Russians and Americans were in a titanic struggle for world supremacy, the Cincinnati Reds baseball team decided it best to change the name to "Redlegs." Later, Premier Khrushchev got a bit more friendly, and the name was changed back to "Reds." The "Redlegs" tag never took any-

PUTTING DOWNHILL

MOST 3-PUTT GREENS FROM ABOVE THE HOLE OCCUR THROUGH A PEAR, RATHER THAN AN ACTUALITY, OF THE BALL GOING TOO FAR PAST THE CUP.

THIS CAUSES SOME PLAYERS TO EASE-UP ON THE STROKE AND LEAVE STILL A TRICKY DOWNHILL SECOND.

IT IS MOST IMPORTANT TO GET THE BALL DOWN TO THE HOLE—AND THIS REQUIRES A FIRM, CONTINUING STROKE. IT DOESN'T HAVE TO BE HARD TO BE FIRM...

...NATURALLY, YOU DON'T WANT TO GO FAR PAST, BUT A 5 FOOT PUTT WILL PUTT IS MUCH EASIER THAN A 5-FOOT DOWNHILLER.

State GOP Platform Committee Quietly Prepares for Convention

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent staff writer

MADISON — Members of the Republican state organization platform committee, preparing recommendations for the GOP state convention May 22, have managed to meet thus far without attracting the attention of the usually curious political reporters of Madison.

One of the reasons is that Madison has had such a proliferation of new hotels and motor inns in recent years, some of them on the far outskirts of the capital city, that politicians can usually choose a place to meet in fair assurance of privacy.

Quiet, gentlemanly Walter Calvert, veteran assemblyman of Iowa and Lafayette counties, has been named chairman of the committee which will submit printed copies of its conclusions to some 3,000 delegates at the convention opens in Milwaukee. The outlook is for a statement with emphasis upon brevity.

Madison Census

The city fathers of Madison believe the rapidly growing capital city can profitably spend a modest sum for a special census to prove its population gains since the federal census of 1960.

Unofficial data indicates that the city probably has more than 150,000 residents now and if that claim can be proved in the special census provided by state law, the capital can qualify under state definitions as a first class city. Milwaukee is now the only first class city in the state.

Madison would probably have nearly 200,000 inhabitants, if all of its urbanized contiguous towns and suburban municipalities could be consolidated with the parent city. But the outlook for such consolidation is not optimistic.

Milwaukee Convention

The Wisconsin Republican national convention delegation will meet formally for the first time during the Republican state convention in Milwaukee next week.

It will gather in conjunction with the state central committee, which is charged by law with the selection of alternate national convention delegates.

Rep. John W. Byrnes, the "favorite son" presidential candidate of the state delegation, is expected to be chosen formally as the delegation chairman for the San Francisco convention in July.

A speaker for the Republican party's fund-raising dinner in Milwaukee in June has not yet been definitely chosen, but he is likely to be one of the candidates for the presidential nomination this year.

The selection offers the sticky problem, however, of reassuring the local adherents and champions of other candidates that his Wisconsin appearance does not involve any commitments to support him for the nomination.

Strahan Activities

Lyle Strahan, the former deputy state attorney general who was fired by Attorney General George Thompson two months ago, will probably have a place in the Republican state organization campaign this year. The development will suggest that the differences between Strahan and his erstwhile employer were personal rather than political.

State capital press officers, who frequently show a biased ignorance of the problems of the news agencies which are the targets of their articles, could learn a lesson from the experience of one of them who recently called on a crusty rural editor upstate.

"When is your deadline?" inquired the statehouse publicity hand, making conversation.

"We don't have a deadline," came the reply, "but if copy doesn't arrive by Tuesday it won't get into the paper."

Political Definition

Percy Hardiman, the No. 1 man of the Wisconsin Farm Bureau Federation, offers a definition of politics that may be timely in a new campaign season.

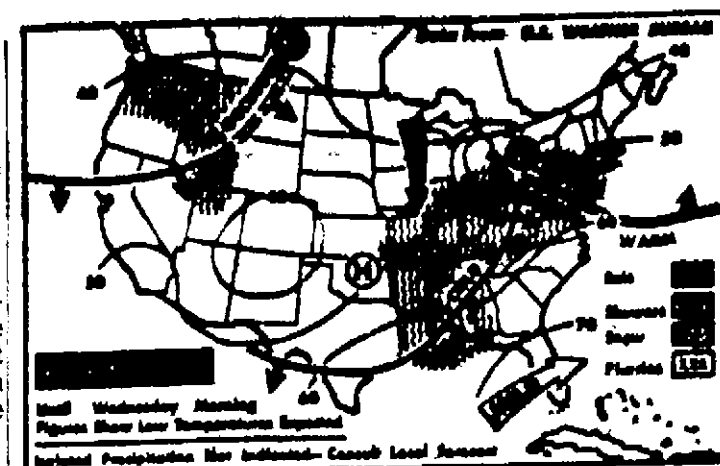

He writes in the current edition of his organization's periodical that it is "the art of looking for trouble, finding it everywhere, diagnosing it incorrectly, and applying the wrong remedies."

Hardiman wrote in the context of the recent enactment by the U. S. Congress of the new wheat and cotton bill, which he claims directly repudiated the spoken will of the farm producers.

The fact that Arthur Padrut, the surviving Republican public service commissioner, has qualified for a new commission civil service executive job puts the two Democratic commissioners in a curious position.

It is up to them to pick the new official. Considering political preferences alone, they might prefer somebody other than Padrut. But if they choose Padrut, his commission seat will be vacated and Gov. Reynolds will have the chance to install in it Sen. Richard Zaboraki, the senate Democratic minority leader.

Reynolds wants him, as Commissioners Besman and Adams know very well. Zaboraki wants the job, as they know very well also. Moreover, the bureau of personnel has certified that Padrut is

Showers and Thundershowers are forecast Tuesday night for the middle Atlantic states. Showers and thundershowers are expected in the Ohio and Tennessee valleys and south to the central Gulf states. A few showers are slated for the north Pacific states and the northern Rockies. It will be cooler in the Mississippi valley, the south and central plains and warmer in the northeast and northern Rockies and plains. (AP Wire-photo Map)

May Need Law For Parking Ban Validation

200 Wisconsin Cities Limit Use of Streets Overnight

MADISON — Legislation may be needed to validate local restrictions on overnight street parking in more than 200 municipalities that now have such laws, the League of Wisconsin Municipalities says.

The League surveyed the extent of overnight parking restrictions as a result of several court decisions which held such ordinances cannot be legally enforced unless signs are erected on each side of the street in every block of the community having such laws.

The League said it has pending in the Legislature a bill to make the requirements more lenient upon cities. In the event the lower court interpretation of the present laws is upheld on appeal to the State Supreme Court.

Appleton Rule

Appleton has a year-around overnight parking ban which prohibits motorists from parking vehicles on streets between 1 a.m. and 5 a.m.

The League bill which has been kept alive for possible legislative action in November would enable municipalities to apply such ordinances by posting notices of the restrictions at the major entrances to the municipality.

The organization said it is anxious to have the issue resolved before the period of heavy snows next winter, when overnight parking rules are most needed to handle street clearance problems.

He Pfeffer has issued licenses to:

Jerry W. Velie, 824 W. Hawes Ave., and Barbara J. Valley, 728 E. Maple St., both of Appleton.

Rusk Tells NATO Cuban Situation Is World Problem

Inspection Flights Continue, He Asserts to Western Allies

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk warned the Western allies today that Cuba is an explosive problem presenting the danger of another world-shaking crisis.

Rusk told the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) Council that the United States is determined to continue aerial reconnaissance of Cuba. He declared that any attempt by Prime Minister Fidel Castro to interfere could create a severe problem.

He said he could see where it would be a serious matter for the other side as well, and pointed out a crisis could develop into one as serious as the confrontation of October, 1962, over Soviet missiles in Cuba.

Seeks Embargo Backing

The secretary was seeking NATO support for the U.S. trade embargo of the Communist island, a customer of such major American allies as Britain and France.

Opening the three-day spring meeting of the NATO Council of Foreign Ministers, Rusk declared that all Communist aggression must be eradicated to insure the security of the non-Communist world. This appeared to be a reference to South Viet Nam as well as Cuba.

Rusk described a crisis over Cuba as one for the whole Western world not just for the United States.

Wants Castro Isolated

Washington, he explained, could not tolerate Castro's efforts to subvert the rest of the hemisphere. Castro's regime must be isolated politically, economically, socially and spir-itally from the rest of the hemisphere, he added.

NATO Kases Threat

Rusk said NATO's successful defense of the Atlantic community "has somewhat deflected the Communist threat against Europe itself."

"The Communists are concentrating their expansionist efforts on other areas of the world," he said. "It is essential that Communists everywhere learn that they cannot expect to gain from a policy of militancy."

Rusk said the NATO Allies should not let success blind them to current dangers.

"Certain of these dangers seem to have diminished, but they can reappear suddenly and without warning," he said.

Wausau Girl Near Death of Stab Wounds

WAUSAU (AP)—An 18-year-old girl was reported in "very critical" condition at St. Mary's Hospital today.

The girl, who was stabbed with multiple stab wounds suffered when she was attacked Monday while en route to afternoon classes at Wausau High School.

Authorities said that Eleanor Kaatz was stabbed some 25 times in the head, chest, abdomen and back. She underwent surgery at the hospital shortly after she was found with her torn dress soaked with mud and blood.

Although in a state of shock, Miss Kaatz told police she was seized by a blond man about 21 as she crossed a railroad bridge young persons use as a short cut across the Wisconsin River. She said she had been dragged to an island, which supports part of the bridge.

Miss Kaatz was found after her cries for help were heard. A fire department rescue boat had been dispatched to the scene in the belief that someone had fallen into the river.

A senior in high school, Miss Kaatz worked evenings at a Wausau drive-in restaurant. Police said she did not go to school Monday morning because she felt ill. After lunch, however, she felt better and decided to attend afternoon classes.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.S. delegation to the United Nations has concluded that Red China's chances of getting into the United Nations at the fall session of the General Assembly have not improved significantly.

Cannon, Head Of Fund Group In House, Dies

Missouri Had Served in Congress During 42 Years

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., pepper guardian of the U.S. pocketbook for decades died today. He was 85.

Dean of the House in years, he had been in Congress since 1922, a member of the Appropriations Committee, and chairman of the group since 1941 except for the periods 1946-48 and 1952-54 when the Republicans were in control.

In that period he had presided over appropriation of more than a trillion dollars—more than any man in history. But he was proudest of the billions he had helped chop out of requests. Rep. George Mahon, D-Tex., is in line to succeed Cannon as chairman of the powerful committee.

Aides said Cannon died about 4 a.m. (EDT) after a heart attack. They said Cannon had entered Washington Hospital Center Sunday afternoon suffering from what he thought was nausea.

He had appeared at his office as usual on Saturday, aides said, and was "chipper and in good spirits" at that time.

Top Man in House

As a parliamentarian it was conceded Cannon was top man in the House. In fact he wrote most of the rules—Cannon's Procedure of the House of Representatives is a legislative bible.

And in the sometimes rowdy Democratic conventions over which the late Speaker Sam Rayburn presided, he was Rayburn's strong right hand when the procedural going got rough.

Rayburn once said privately he didn't know where Cannon got all the precedents he cited, and had his doubts they really existed except in Cannon's agile mind. But they helped Rayburn keep conventions under control.

Cannon will be buried Thursday in his hometown, Elsberry, Mo. Funeral services will be at SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara arrived in Saigon today for a 36-hour visit and plunged into a series of heavily guarded conferences on the progress of the war in Viet Nam.

McNamara raced from one conference to another in Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge's car, with flak jackets piled on the floor, on the seat and behind his back for protection against Communist terrorist bullets, hand grenades and mines.

4 Military Plane Crashes Claim 92 Lives

Fifth Craft Down In Philippines but Pilot Lands Safely

MANILA (AP)—Ninety-two persons were dead or missing today following four military plane crashes around the world. Most of the victims were American military personnel.

A fifth plane, a U.S. Air Force supersonic fighter, crashed in the Philippines today but the pilot parachuted to safety.

The four fatal crashes occurred Monday in the Philippines, off Spain, in southern England and in Alabama.

At Clark Air Base, north of Manila, a U.S. Military Air Transport jetliner with 83 persons aboard crashed short of a runway and burst into flames. Seventy-three persons died in the wreckage and another two died in the base hospital.

5 Hurt, 14 Arrested in Maryland

BY LOUIS G. PANOS

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP)—An outbreak of violence in the wake of a presidential campaign speech by Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace left this center of racial strife in the grip of new tensions today.

Two demonstrators and five National Guardsmen were injured in a melee touched off Monday night when about 200 singing, hand-clapping integrationists tried to march on the arena where Wallace had spoken.

They met a cordon of some of the 400 National Guardsmen hurried into this sensitive spot just to prevent such an act.

Wallace had already left the town of 12,000. He had addressed about 1,500 supporters in his campaign in the May 19 Democratic primary and was applauded more than 40 times during a 45-minute speech attacking the civil rights bill pending in the Senate.

14 Under Arrest

Balked by guardsmen wearing gas masks and holding rifles with fixed bayonets, the integrationists squatted in the street and sang "We Shall Not Be Moved."

Guardsmen used tear gas to disperse them, arrested 14 and slapped an 11 p.m. curfew on the city.

State officials met into early morning on the disposition of the arrested. Two were treated at Cambridge Hospital, one for a cut and the other for the effects of tear gas, then were returned to the National Guard armory. Two others were sent to the hospital for treatment of minor injuries.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Robert Murphy said charges to be filed against some of those arrested still were under study.

Leader Seized

"It may be foolish, if the climate stays as it is, to turn them loose in this inferno down here," he said.

Gloria Richardson, leader of the two-year-old integration movement in Cambridge, was among those arrested. Those not hospitalized were transferred to National Guard headquarters in Pikesville, across Chesapeake Bay and north of Baltimore.

The guardsmen ordered into

Ohio Rep. Robert Taft Attacks Johnson Poverty War as Gimmick

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Public Works Subcommittee has scheduled a hearing for May 22 on a bill to provide $4 million in federal aid for the proposed Great River Road, a 3,777-mile scenic highway along both banks of the Mississippi River.

The bill, sponsored by Democratic Sens. Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin and Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, would help defray the cost of the estimated $61 million needed to purchase land, scenic easements and right of way. Wisconsin has committed $75,661 for purchase of scenic easements.

"As the longest scenic highway in the world, the road is of great importance to the country," Nelson said Monday. "It is crucial that we take action now before commercial encroachments ruin the beauty of the land and destroy the purpose for which the highway was proposed."

Planning studies have been completed in Wisconsin, Tennessee, Iowa and Arkansas. Two of three studies have been completed in Minnesota and an Illinois study is under way. Louisiana and Missouri have studies scheduled for next year. Only Mississippi and Kentucky have not asked that studies be made

Improved Method Of Measuring Storms Unveiled

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—An instrument claimed to exceed the capabilities of radar in determining the turbulence and electrical content of distant storms was unveiled here today by the applied science division of Litton Industries.

Named Sparsa, the automatic electromagnetic disturbance detector can operate over a 200-mile radius, enabling forecasters to locate and predict with accuracy the development of severe weather, including thunderstorms, high winds, hail and tornadoes, it was claimed.

Dr. John Barkley, president of the local division, said a complete system embracing four of the new analytic weather instruments is being shipped for installation at Cape Kennedy.

The first such device was conceived and developed by Douglas Kohl, a senior creative engineer for Litton who lives in Osseo, Minn. Work on the project was carried on at the former General Mills electronic center in East Minneapolis.

Search Continues For Missing Tot

CHIPPEWA FALLS (AP)—A search resumed early today for 3-year-old Richard Buchberger, missing since Sunday afternoon from his parents' home on Lake Wissota five miles east of Chippewa Falls.

Jerome Yelk of Eagle River brought two bloodhounds to the area Monday and the sheriff's department said the animals followed the boy's trail to the edge of the lake.

Skin divers and a dragging crew found nothing in their search of the lake and a flyover Monday morning by the Civil Air Patrol also failed to disclose the whereabouts of the boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Buchberger.

Sheriff Lee Arntz of Chippewa County said he doubts if foul play was involved and said "a pretty thorough search has been made."

Union's Records to be Scanned in Probe of Legal Fees Spent by Hoffa

BY NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Labor Department prepared today to dig into Teamsters Union financial records to find out how much the union has paid in legal expenses for its off-indicted president, James R. Hoffa.

"We are going into the various cases involved," said a spokesman for Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, who announced the unprecedented investigation Monday.

Long Probe Expected

Assistant Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds said the investigation may take at least six weeks because of a maze of financial dealings between Hoffa and his various lawyers in a number of states.

School Board to Take Over Chilton Recreation System

City Will Pay District $4,000 Per Year for Assuming Program

CHILTON — A proposal submitted to the school board by the city recreation committee for the school to assume the recreation program was approved Monday night.

Since major portions of the program now take place on school property, the board agreed it should have control over its supervision and administration.

Remaining under city supervision will be the youth center and ice skating. Free movies to be offered each week were questioned. The board decided to assume the movie responsibility under the condition the showing take place on school property.

Question Liability
The liability of the school for youngsters taking part in their programs but not on school property was questioned specifically, but no conclusion was drawn.

At the end of the first year the district will bill the city for $4,000, the price the city offered for taking over the program. In other action the board approved summer classes in driver training, typing, remedial reading and instrumental music.

The board said good use should be made of available facilities. G. G. Bloomer, president, said "this is just a step toward a 12-month school year, which is inevitable."

Show Interest
A. W. Gordon, superintendent of schools, said 76 persons had expressed interest in summer offerings. The purchase of 33 football jerseys and game pants was authorized. This will involve an expenditure of about $328. The order must be placed now so that delivery can be made by the beginning of football season.

27 Units of Southbound Milwaukee Road Freight In Spectacular Pileup

BY DOUG KOPLIEN

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

CHILTON — Twenty-seven cars of an 81-car Milwaukee Road freight train were "tumbled like matchsticks" and two crewmen injured in a spectacular train derailment north of here early today.

The accident, which left twisted wreckage and boxcars "stacked like cordwood" over a 400-foot stretch of right of way, occurred at the same spot 19 cars left the tracks last October.

Injured were Don La Haye, Menominee, Mich., conductor, and Robert Cariveau, Green Bay, brakeman. They had been riding in the caboose.

An unidentified motorist saw fire burning from downed high voltage wires along the tracks, and picked the injured men from the crumpled car. The motorist took them to Calumet Memorial Hospital where they were treated and released. The pair suffered multiple bruises from being tossed about in the wildly bounding car.

3 Others Not Hurt

Three other crewmen, riding in the engine, which was not damaged, escaped injury. They are Dan Jarkowski, Green Bay, engineer, Gene Janquart, fireman, and Obe Olson, head brakeman, both of Menominee, Mich.

Jarkowski and railroad officials investigating the crash said they did not know the cause.

"First I knew of the derailment was when the car just behind the engine went off the tracks," the engineer said. The Milwaukee-bound train was traveling about 40 miles per hour on a straight stretch of track through farmland when the mishap occurred at a town intersection.

Spokesmen for the line said total cost of the damage could not yet be estimated. They said last fall's crash had no bearing on the mishap today.

New Rails, Ties

Rails and ties, left twisted and splintered by today's crash, were new, officials said, and just one month ago had been inspected by a special "X-ray" rail detector. They were found to be in good condition at that time.

Full-scale cleanup operations were expected to begin sometime this afternoon. Wreckers were on their way to the scene from Green Bay and Milwaukee. Three bulldozers were brought to the scene to aid in clearing away the debris. Officials of the railroad said they had no idea how long it would take to clear the area, but there were unofficial estimates of up to one week.

Cargo on the train was largely paper products from Strange Paper Mill, Menasha. Two "piggy-back" trucks were being taken to Milwaukee.

Day Care Group Applies for State Recognition of Board

Citizens' Committee Organized To Provide Service to Outagamie

The citizens committee for day care centers has applied to the State Department of Public Welfare for recognition of the day care center board which it has organized to serve Outagamie County.

The board is surveying the possibility of establishing a day care center in Appleton to serve the mentally handicapped. With recognition by the state, state aids would be available to reimburse 40 per cent of the center's operating costs.

Mrs. Kyle Ward Jr., chairman of the citizens' committee and the board, explained the board is studying establishment of an activities center to serve both mentally retarded young adults who have no place to go after they finish at Plaman School and the mentally ill who have returned from institutions but need help in adjustment to the community.

No Adjustment Center
The board is not planning a work adjustment center at this time because the services of the Menasha center will be available to Outagamie County residents as long as its workload permits.

1,500 Attend Testimonial Dinner For 7th District GOP Congressman At Wausau; Many Not Seated

WAUSAU — Newman High School gymnasium and cafeteria didn't have enough seats Monday night for all the Seventh District Republicans who turned out to honor Rep. Melvin R. Laird, Marshfield, at a testimonial dinner.

Laird said he was "stunned" and "deeply gratified" by the crowd of 1,500. More than 2,000 tickets were sold for the dinner. About 100 persons had to be sent home for lack of space.

The six-term congressman said he's "enjoyed being a member of Congress" for six terms. "But even more, I like to be called a professional politician. Government and politics together need to be taken seriously."

Young Lawrence
About Laird, Robert Taft Jr., the main speaker and GOP congressman from Ohio, said "he's not only a politician, he's a statesman, a thinker and a philosopher."

"His book, 'A House Divided,' is only one of many services contributed to his party and to his country."

While introducing Laird, Warren Knowles, New Richmond, only candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, asked the throng to support Laird next fall as he tries for his seventh term in Congress.

But Laird said later, "I'm not a candidate for re-election — not until I have to be. There's a lot of advantages in not announcing my candidacy. I intend to keep from announcing as long as I can so the equal time provision for my opponents won't apply."

'Excellent Work'
Laird helped to make the crowd feel both comfortable and at home Monday night by removing his suitcoat. The temperature in the gymnasium was sweltering, so, by following

The actual figures of the reassessment will be released after the four cities within Waupaca County have been reassessed to complete the list. Village authorities were told townships and villages were all appraised at a higher equalized value.

Dial Telephones Being Installed At New London

Businessmen Will Be Notified of New Numbers Soon

NEW LONDON — Installation of dial telephones in New London homes began last week, according to Joe Obertin, local manager for the Wisconsin Telephone Co.

All telephones installed from now on will be of the dial type. The dial will not be functional until the switching equipment is installed later this summer in the company's new building on E. Spring Street.

For the convenience of businessmen who want to list phone numbers on advertising material or calendars, Obertin promised post cards announcing the dial numbers will be mailed within the next few days. Residential subscribers also will be notified of their new numbers by mail soon.

Numbers Assigned
He said new numbers have been assigned to subscribers by a formula developed by telephone engineers.

The company recognizes many people would like to choose their own dial number for many different reasons, Obertin said, but this method proves unsatisfactory because the numbers are a physical part of the dial apparatus and must be given to various kinds of lines in a way that will assure service for all subscribers in the exchange.

'Master Republican' Title Termed Appropriate for Rep. Robert Taft

Wauchau Dinner Speaker Scored Triumph In Campaign for At-Large Ohio House Seat

BY DECK LYNKES
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

WAUCHAU — Perhaps "Master Republican" is an appropriate name for Robert Taft Jr., main speaker here Monday at a testimonial dinner for Rep. Melvin R. Laird, Seventh District GOP congressman from Marshfield.

The "master" tag has two explanations.

First, he's the son of the late Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio, who was called "Mr. Republican."

Second, he deserves the "master" label because of recent successes in Ohio politics. In his first try for elective office, he won election as Ohio's congressman-at-large in 1960.

Popularity Shows

Last week, running against one of the top GOP vote-getters in Ohio, Secretary of State Ted Brown, he captured 565,551 votes in the U.S. Senate primary. His opponent received only 138,000 votes.

The popularity of the Taft name is reflected in the number of votes cast in the Republican side of the primary. Taft and Brown drew a total of 685,536 votes, while the Democratic primary opponents—Sen. Stephen Young and former astronaut John Glenn—drew a combined 557,240 votes.

The "magic" of the Taft name is apparent because since Robert Taft Sr. died, two Democratic have been elected to the Senate—Young and Sen. Frank Lausche. Despite this Democratic success on the statewide level, Taft's election to Congress as an at-large delegate also was achieved on a statewide level.

The Taft family success in politics was not and still isn't a result of cronyism.

The congressman's grandfather, President and later Chief Justice of the Supreme Court William Howard Taft, and his father, Sen. Robert Taft, never aroused political audiences with fiery speeches. Their success came in the more intricate area of leadership and persuasion within the inner circle of Washington politics.

Political Name

Young Taft, although more trim than his portly grandfather and more handsome than his thin, bespectacled father, is not a fiery orator, but his authoritative, even - toned manner of speaking is effective. This advantageous trait would be a political asset even without the Taft name.

Taft told reporters Monday night his opponents try to make much out of his alleged "using the family name for political gain, but the people don't let me forget it."

He said, "Even here in Wauchau, someone came up to me with a picture of my grandfather, telling me that she had met him in the early 1930s. Everywhere I go people are giving me pictures of my ancestors. It seems to make them like me, although I would prefer to be respected for my own merits."

"Sense of Warmth"

Taft admitted he had a "sense of warmth from being in Wauchau" because in 1932 his father began his presidential campaign in Wauchau. Sen. Taft took 20 of Wauchau's 20 delegates to the national GOP convention.

"My sense of warmth stems from the support and welcome you gave my father here and throughout Wisconsin," he said.

But being "the son of a political family" has its disadvantages too.

He told about loaded questions he received from a reporter during a televised news conference in the recent Ohio senatorial primary.

"He asked me to compare my views on civil rights with those of my great-grandfather," Taft said, "so you see what I have to face."

The association with Sen. Taft with the conservative cause and the attempts by young Taft's foes of trying to capitalize on his fees invalid, most observers say, because Sen. Taft's conservatism was different from today's. In fact, it embraced many of today's "liberal" ideas.

Young Taft's stands on sociopolitical and civil rights affairs certainly differ from today's southerner who embraces the conservative label, these observers say.

After "Mr. Republican" then, "Master Republican" would seem to be the logical following, act.

Dobberstein Sent To Waupun for 30 Days of Tests

OSHKOSH — Winnebago County Juvenile Court Judge James Sarrea has ordered Kenneth Wayne Dobberstein, 17, route 1, Winnebago, committed to Central State Hospital at Waupun for a 30-day observation period.

Dobberstein is being held on an open charge in the shotgun slaying of Mrs. Russell Schmude, 44, route 1, Winnebago, April 22 and the wounding of her son, Neal, 13. He has admitted the shooting.

The youth had been sent to Wisconsin Diagnostic Center at Madison for examination May 5, but was returned to the Winnebago County Jail because of lack of maximum security facilities at the center. Judge Sarrea said only a brief evaluation was made while Dobberstein was in Madison.

Mrs. Schmude was killed by a single shotgun blast shortly after she entered her home on County Trunk K in Town of Poygan the evening of April 22. Her son was shot in the back when he turned to run upstairs to escape.

'Dived in After Boy'

68-Year-Old Appleton Man Saves Menasha Youth From Drowning

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MENASHA — A 68-year-old Appleton man dived into the chilly, murky waters of Jefferson Park lagoon Monday afternoon and snatched a Menasha youngster from certain death.

Bennett L. Grissman, 629 N. Bennett St., Appleton, was credited with saving the life of 12-year-old David Huycke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Huycke, 631 Broad St.

David, frightened but uninjured from his harrowing experience, was lucky to be attending fifth grade classes at Jefferson School here today.

The boy, who does not know how to swim, fell into the lagoon shortly before 4 p.m. Monday while retrieving a baseball, and was about to go under water for the third time when Grissman leaped in and pulled him to shore.

The near tragedy and heroic rescue took place at the edge of the park where the water is an estimated 8 to 10 feet deep.

Heard Splash

What was to have been a few hours of leisure fishing with his wife, Clara, turned into an exciting afternoon for Grissman, a 6 ft. 2 in. fellow who looks like he is knocking on 60 rather than 70.

"I heard a splash in the water not too far from us and thought some kids playing in the park had knocked a baseball into the water," Grissman recalled.

"We arrived at the park a few minutes before and I had just got our lines into the water," Grissman added.

The baseball did go into the water but so did young David Huycke who had ran to retrieve it but couldn't stop in time to prevent himself from toppling into the lagoon.

"The next thing I heard was a little girl shouting that her brother was in the water," Grissman said.

Bolled In Water

He ran to where David was splashing and bobbing about eight feet from shore.

"I thought to him if he could swim and the boy kept holding his hand over his mouth and nose and shook his head as if to say 'no,'" Grissman commented.

Grissman then jumped into the water thinking the area was shallow but couldn't touch bottom with his feet and started swimming out to the boy.

"His head had already gone under twice by the time I got to him," Grissman said. "Scared to death," David did not fight as he towed the youngster to shore.

Take Him Home

"If the youngster hadn't held his breath the way he did I think he would have been a goner," commented Grissman, a retired employee of Appleton Structural Steel Co.

Grissman and his wife laid David on his stomach, wrapped him in a blanket and when it appeared he was only suffering shock, took the boy home in their car.

Group Applies To State for Recognition

and day care facilities for the mentally retarded and the mentally disturbed in the county and presenting a plan of action.

The goal of the committee is to establish facilities for rehabilitation and aftercare for the mentally handicapped. Recognition of the day care center board under the 1961 state Day Care Service Act is the first step.

Need Enlargement

Needs the board is surveying include an enlarged nursery for retarded children who have not reached school age, day care centers for young retarded adults and for the mentally rehabilitated, and work training and opportunities. There are some existing facilities in these lines but they all need enlargement, Mrs. Ward said.

One of the first activities of the board, if approved, will be to seek state reimbursement for operation of the New Hope Nursery, a small nursery where retarded children 5 to 7 years old can be trained before their enrollment in Plamann School. The nursery is run by the Outagamie County Council for Retarded Children.

The board also is contemplating the possibility of using some of the facilities of the county hospital, in cooperation with the board, as a day care center for older individuals, Mrs. Ward said.

Dr. Kenneth Rush, Madison, director of the day care services department of the State Department of Public Welfare, will meet with the board next week to advise it on legal and other aspects of its work.

Fearlessly, Police Find That All's Quiet In Cemetery

A somewhat frightened voice was on the other end of the telephone line to police late Sunday night.

"A light, like a flashlight is moving around the cemetery near my house," said the voice.

"It sounds like someone is chasing something or at least pounding on something," continued the voice.

Nothing — at least nothing that could be seen—was found in the cemetery.

Zephyrs Slam Three Events In Defeating Chiefs, 92-25

MENASHA — St. Mary's best time of the season, 56.1, in young track team won its first home meet in its brief history and its initial triumph of the season by besting an undermanned Shiocton squad, 92-25, Monday evening.

Coach Bob Karisny's Zephyrs slammed the discus, 220 yard dash and 440 yard run as they swept to 12 firsts. In most races, especially in the distance events, the Chiefs only had one runner while St. Mary entered four or five.

Ken Jahnke led the winners with firsts in both hurdles and the high jump. His leap of 5 feet, 2 inches in the high jump was his best of the year.

John Roedel copped the shot put, with a throw of 43 feet, 3 inches and also was first in the discus.

How Important Is a Bandwagon?

An interesting question has been raised recently about what effect the broadcasting of election returns from the eastern part of the country may have on voters in western states where the polls close three hours later, or even in Hawaii which is six hours behind our east coast time.

If television networks are declaring that the voting trend in the east is in favor of a particular candidate, would this tend to persuade a voter in California who still has time to go to the polls to jump on the bandwagon?

Canada has passed legislation which prohibits the broadcasting of election returns into areas where the polls have not yet closed.

An official of the Columbia Broadcasting System last week opposed any such legislation. He said there is no conclusive evidence that such reports affect the subsequent vote. If returns indicate it, "CBS News will declare the presidential winner — as it must—even though the polls on the West Coast, or even in Hawaii, are still open," he declared.

The problem of course has been created by our almost instantaneous communications in this country. It has been enhanced, however, by the recent introduction of computer forecasting into network broadcasts, where early returns are projected on the basis of past performances in certain voting precincts into predictions of the eventual winner.

Over many years we have surrounded the election process in this country with many safeguards to insure the total secrecy of the ballot. We bar candidates, for instance, from soliciting support within a certain distance of the polling place.

Does the broadcasting of returns, and the forecasting of winners into areas where the polls are still open prejudice the voting in any way? And if so, do we need legislation to prohibit it? Or must we merely recognize that this is an age of instantaneous communication and that we cannot prohibit it.

Pity McNamara Can't Talk to Capt. Shank

President Johnson announced at his children's press conference that Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara would go once again to Saigon after his mission to Bonn this month. And McNamara in a speech repeated the same old guff that things don't look awfully bright in Viet Nam but are bound to get better.

Is it because this is an election year that the Administration continues to avoid telling the truth to the American people about the war in Viet Nam?

Captain Edward Shank went into the Air Force after graduation from Notre Dame as an architectural engineer. He believed that the fight in Viet Nam was worth winning and he was trying to do his part. Letters written to his wife before his death have been released and they give quite a different picture of the war than comes from official Washington.

"Got all kinds of problems . . . can't get parts or books or charts describing the different bombs and systems. The Air Force hasn't used any of this equipment since Korea and everybody seems to have lost the books. Main problem is personnel . . . no good officers or NCOs over here that really know their business. Most of them are out of SAC and have dealt only with nuclear weapons. . . . What we need is someone from WWII . . . We're using equipment and bombs from WWII and it's not too reliable. . . . We 23 run the whole war in the Mekong Delta. . . . It's a big, mean war. We are getting beat. We are undermanned and undergunned. . . . If the U.S. would really put combat people in here, we could win and fast. . . ."

Capt. Shank went on to describe various operations which clearly showed that the U.S. Air Force was actively in the war, not merely transporting Vietnamese troops around or showing them the elements of guerrilla warfare. The letters indicate frustration with the lack of liaison with ground troops and discouragement over the part expected to be played by the Vietnamese troops whose low rate of casualties Shank thought was because they avoided a fight.

Captain Shank was killed when his plane was shot down during an attack on Viet Cong forces. He was not assassinated by a distant sniper or a terrorist's bomb. He died in combat.

The American participation in the Vietnamese fracas has been concealed from Americans whenever possible. It may be that the part our Air Force is supposed to play now is some sort of a holding action until the Vietnamese can take over their war and win it. But at the very least the Air Force should have the latest in equipment and weapons. There have been warnings that carrying the war into the north would risk more active Red Chinese participation. But then it is even more important that the war be won in South Viet Nam and as quickly as possible. Americans may have to play policeman in various parts of the world but they should be equipped for the role.

Understandably this is no easy matter to solve in a hurry. The various and intricate parts of diplomacy on a world wide basis are involved and certainly Captain Shank did not know all the facts. But the suspicion remains that the Johnson Administration is not doing anything much because this is an election year and pap makes more docile voters out of people than facing up to a war we are losing.

"We're over here doing the best we can," Shank wrote a month before his death. "We fight and we die but no one cares. They lie to my country about us—we don't officially exist. But they've just got to help us soon, or we are going to have another Dien Bien Phu. God help us."

Americans do care. Capt. Shank may have done his country a last service through his letters informing us what is going on and perhaps awakening Washington to the fact that elections can be lost because of "dirty little wars."

In Praise of Dr. Kagen

Residents of Appleton owe a debt of gratitude to Dr. Marvin S. Kagen who has decided to give up the job of city health commissioner after holding the post the past five years.

Under Dr. Kagen's administration, Appleton finally got a functioning health department, complete with staff and facilities for carrying out public health work vital in a community of this size.

The department has a full-time registered city nurse, sanitarians and inspectors who are charged with the responsibility to see that ordinances and good health practices are being followed in the community.

New offices and laboratory facilities were also constructed at the city hall in recent months under Dr. Kagen's administration. He and his department played a major role in making arrangements for the city-wide Sabin vaccine immunization program.

At all times, Dr. Kagen has been most helpful and conscientious in coping with community-wide health problems. We congratulate him for a job well done and wish his successor, Dr. James Laird, an equal amount, if not more, success in the future.

Headquarters near Peninsula Landing — May 10, 1864 — Our Operation may be summed up in a few words With 1,700 cavalry we have advanced up the peninsula, forded the Chickahominy River, and safely brought the men to our present position

These were colored cavalry and all are now holding position as our advance toward Richmond

Gen. Koutz with 5,000 cavalry from Suffolk, on the same day with our movements up James River, forded the Black water and burned the railroad bridge at Stony Creek, below Petersburg, cutting in two Beauregard's forces at that point

We have landed here, entrenched ourselves, destroyed many miles of railroad, got a position which, with proper supplies which I have ordered, can hold against the whole of Lee's army.

Beauregard, with a large portion of his command, was left south with the cutting of the railroad. Gen. Koutz whipped that portion under Hill, killing and wounding many, taking prisoners after a severe fight.

There's Slight Glimmer of Hope Conditions May Improve in Brazil

BY MAX FREEDMAN

As new evidence accumulates, it becomes necessary to revise our opinion of recent events in Brazil.

When President Goulart was flung from power many people were skeptical of the claim that the army had saved Brazil from a Communist coup. This skepticism now seems to be quite unjustified.

President Goulart himself was not a Communist. But he had blundered into the fatal mistake of depending upon the Communists for his essential political support. He proclaimed the slogans which divided the people of Brazil on class lines. Then he allowed the insurgent Communist leaders to set policy in many trade unions. Finally he did nothing to prevent the Communist penetration of the armed forces.

All this adds up to the classic Communist formula for the seizure of power. It should be explained that the Communists taking part in this subversion were not discontented and impulsive citizens eager to end Brazil's miseries by drastic remedies. They were in the precise sense of the word "agents" of Russia who were taking orders outside their own country. They were interested not in helping Brazil but in advancing the fortunes of Communism. Their plans to disorganize economic life in Brazil and to promote conditions favorable to social upheaval always rested on this sinister Communist purpose.

BECAME DUPE OF REDS

President Goulart, confronted with this challenge, thought he could buy off the revolution by bringing known Communists and Communist sympathizers into positions of administrative responsibility in the government. He merely made himself the dupe and hostage of these hostile forces. It was his last act of weakness and did more than anything else to alienate him from responsible opinion in Brazil.

It will naturally be asked why the overthrow of President Goulart was so peaceful if Brazil really trembled on the edge of revolution. There are various reasons. The sentiment in Brazil's Congress was clearly in favor of a peaceful transition. Most of the state governors ranged themselves in support of the army as the custodian of public order. But the basic reason was the refusal of most people in Brazil to drag the country into a class war that would have reverberated throughout Latin America. These reasons converged to delay, and perhaps to avert, a catastrophe that would have raised many urgent threats to the security of this hemisphere on a scale eclipsing anything that has happened in Cuba.

As these events have unfolded, the United States has watched them first with anxiety and later with hope, but always with detachment from the internal political pressures of Brazil. There has been neither interference nor dictation. Friendly and responsible advice has been given when it was solicited and when there was a chance that it would do some good.

That advice has already had a constructive result in controlling the arbitrary arrests or dismissals from office, in pointing out the dangers of censorship, and in emphasizing that fair procedures should replace blind reprisals at the earliest moment.

Without claiming that everything said or done by the United States has been without fault, it can be said that America's contribution has been timely and constructive and it can still assist Brazil to find a peaceful solution of its problems. If things had gone less well, Brazil would have pushed Viet Nam out of the headlines and this country would have been caught in a new partisan quarrel over foreign policy. The State Department and the White House are entitled to some credit when their influence, strictly within constitutional bounds, has given Brazil another chance to avoid a social explosion.

CLOSE TO BANKRUPTCY

Whether that chance will be fully taken, or whether what we are seeing now is a mere prelude to a new crisis, will depend on what the army leaders do with Brazil's economic problems, particularly with the destructive and galloping inflation. It is no exaggeration to say that Brazil, despite her vast resources, is approaching actual bankruptcy.

The United States is now in touch with other interested governments to arrange for deferred payments of Brazil's indebtedness. Even if this can be arranged, and the prospects are good, Brazil would still face a great problem in discharging her commercial debts. The new interim regime can do many necessary but unpopular things from which politicians eager for election would shrink. That is indeed the most hopeful element in the situation.

The Johnson administration has concluded that its help to Brazil, no matter how lavish, will do little good unless Brazil carries out essential economic reforms. American policy, in short, is a mixture of benevolence and realism, of assistance and reform, with the amount of aid depending upon the amount of self-help in Brazil. Given existing conditions in Brazil, it is hard to see how a better policy can be devised.

Women Still Minority Influence in Politics Despite Their Numbers

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The new political campaigns will soon be in full swing and during succeeding months hundreds of local political captains of both political parties will be delivering little speeches about the importance of women in political affairs.

Yet there has been little evidence over the years that the role of women in Wisconsin public life has changed. Politics and government remain men's business, for the most part. It is true that if the women volunteers in both parties, in any typical locality, should resign in a body, the campaign machinery would collapse overnight. Women probably represent a majority of the troops in both political party organizations. Women contribute most of the energy and time in the elementary work in the precincts and in the party headquarters.

But the rank and the power and the leadership is held by the men. Only a handful of women have risen to important public office in Wisconsin in more than four decades since they won full constitutional equality with men in the suffrage amendment.

WHY? Why haven't women as a group risen to the power and the place in the public life of the state and the country that the eager suffragettes dreamed about in the earlier years of this century?

The most obvious factor is that the "woman's vote" has not become a conscious political force. There is very little to show, for example, that the women as a group will respond to a female candidate. There is very little to show that women as a group will encourage a woman to contest with a man for a nomination to any typical place, even for the county board, or for the legislature or the city council, and there is precisely nothing to indicate that women as a class have any very well defined notions about women aspiring to higher places such as congressional seats or governorships.

There are more women than men in the typical jurisdiction.

In the country as a whole they outnumber their male fellow citizens by nearly four millions. If they consciously used their theoretical majorities, given the workings of the electoral college, they could control the outcome of a national election through their numerical position in the big states, as has often been pointed out. But there is nothing to show that women have any such notions, and there is some evidence to indicate that in spite of their numerical majority, women voters are not as important as men in the final counting because they are less likely to register and vote than are their husbands and brothers.

NOW MANY NOW?

A recent national study has shown that the number of women in public office—elective and appointive—has barely remained steady and may in fact have declined in recent years.

That fits the Wisconsin picture, where the occasional woman in public office attracts attention largely as a novelty.

The three women now holding elective office in the state government are widows. The presumption is that their political careers resulted from their widowhood. Recent governors have held their positions by such close margins that they have attentively watched for opportunities for effective public relations gestures. But they have not thought to appoint many women. Here and there will be found a woman sheriff, usually holding the office for a husband whose constitutional eligibility has been interrupted. There is a handful of women members on city councils and county boards. But where are the lady judges who hold offices in some other parts of the country? There has not yet been elected a woman congressman, and in fact, only a few female candidates have filed and then mostly in default situations.

In party organization women share offices with fair equality in numbers. But almost as a rule the man is chairman, the woman vice chairman.

For whatever reason, women have not yet capitalized their legal opportunities in the political sphere, and remain a minority force in practice in spite of numerical superiority.

Real Truth in Art Discloses Meaning

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Over the years, I have received many manuscripts from would-be authors with the misguided notion that I might assist them in the publication of their works.

Ninety-nine per cent, of course, are utterly worthless; and the remaining one per cent needs no help from me or anyone else.

But, in their covering letters, these authors almost invariably sing the same refrain: "This story is true," they say; "This novel actually happened;" they insist; "It is taken from real life."

Somewhat they seem to feel that their literary work is authenticated by such statements, that its truth and sincerity are verified by life itself. But life is only the crude raw material for art; as Huxley once observed: "Experience is not what happens to us — it is what we do with what happens to us."

There are stories, of a sort, in everybody and everything. Odd and poignant and mysterious and startling events are part of every life. Truth, indeed, is so much stranger than fiction that good fiction needs to plane down the edges, to reshape and reduce the almost vulgar coincidences and gross astonishments that mere living brings to all of us.

"What happens" in "Harnett" is the narrative — to know only the story is to understand nothing at all about the play or the chief character. Shakespeare took a "true" Danish story and transformed it into a universal experience — not by saying "This is how it was," but by indicating, to the trained sensibility, "This is what it means."

Potomac Fever— by Jack Wilson

President Johnson asks the advertising industry to help sell his anti-poverty program. With slogans, and all, like "are you starving more and enjoying it less? Switch to riches."

Johnson Speech About Kennedy Death Strange

Assassination is Again Attributed To Hate, Bigotry

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — President Johnson made a strange speech a few days ago which surprised many people throughout the country. He attributed the assassination of his predecessor to "hate" and "bigotry." This is something which is so much at variance with the facts published thus far concerning Lee Harvey Oswald, the accused assassin, that it has caused wonder whether or not Mr. Johnson's address was prompted by an overemotional speech writer or whether he himself has concluded that the assassination was produced by the alleged "hate" doctrines of some of the people who were opposed to Mr. Kennedy.

Speaking last Saturday at the dedication of the John F. Kennedy Cultural Center in New York, President Johnson said in part:

"John F. Kennedy was the victim of the hate that was a part of our country. It is a disease that occupies the minds of the few but brings danger to the many.

"If we had more centers like this, if we had done our job a little better and we had feared a little less and our hatred had been minimized and our bigotry driven underground—John Fitzgerald Kennedy would be here with us today as our 36th president. He gave his life for his country. He need not have given it except for those who hate and those who fear and those who frighten easily and those who feel insecure."

Hate Wave

When the late president was assassinated, there were many people who attributed the murder to the "hate wave" in America. Almost immediately after the news was flashed across the country, there were numerous comments from Washington and elsewhere which blamed the act on "bigots" and "extremists." Chief Justice Earl Warren, for instance, said the assassination was "a result of the hatred and bitterness that has been injected into the life of our nation by bigots."

The inference at the time was that some kind of "right wing" activity had motivated the assassination. But it was soon discovered that Oswald had spent considerable time in Russia and was a believer in Marxist philosophy. He could have disliked Mr. Kennedy because he felt the president's views were not pro-Communist or pro-Marxist or pro-Leftist. But almost every piece of evidence that has been made public since indicates that Oswald had a deranged mind and that his aberration started in his youth. His erratic behavior was noticeable in the years immediately preceding the episode at Dallas. The conclusion persons familiar with psychiatric problems has been that Oswald, for whom guns and target practice had a fascination, declined to take some shots at the president's automobile.

But in a disturbed mind which goes to such an extreme really related in any way to public questions or to the prejudices that are commonly associated with the press and one of public policy? Could Oswald's actions have been prevented if there had been less "bigotry" in the United States, and is it conceivable that, even if there were more centers like the John F. Kennedy Cultural Center, John Fitzgerald Kennedy would be here with us today?

Medical history shows that, irrespective of the ideology of any country, there are deranged minds which are responsible for the commission of crimes that are inexplicable on any rational or logical basis. Scarcely a day goes by that the newspapers do not report brutal and senseless killings of young children or aged persons, or attacks on women in their homes or on the streets, committed by individuals who do not even know their victims but are governed by some deep emotional urge that is a form of insanity.

Assumed Insane

Until now it had been widely assumed that Oswald was insane and that his crime was that of a demented individual. The theory that it could somehow be associated with hate or prejudices or "bigotry" in the land had been pretty well dispelled. But President Johnson's remarks raise the question as to just why, after a lapse of several months, Mr. Johnson chose to revive the theory. Could it be that the Warren Commission has divulged to the president some information that has not yet been made avail-

Locomotive Banned for Green-Bay Avenue in New York City

NEW YORK (AP) — The "Dwight D. Eisenhower," a 72-foot British steam locomotive that headed the guest's train from around the world to World War II, has completed another leg of a journey to Green Bay, Wis.

Retired from the British railway system last year, the locomotive arrived by freighter in New York last Friday and was unloaded Monday.

Funds to transport the 124-ton locomotive from Southampton to New York were raised by Wisconsin businessmen after the State Department and the Army Transport Command rejected requests to bring it to the United States.

able to the public at large? Authoritative sources deny this assumption.

The whole thing has an air of mystery, because on its face it just doesn't seem consistent with Mr. Johnson's approach in the past. While he has condemned the action of the assassin and has also condemned "bigotry" and hatred and all similar emotions that are to be found in a vast population, he never before has attributed the crime directly to the inspiration of the "hate" groups or a "hate" psychology.

The goods and services you could have bought for $1 at the New York World's Fair in 1939 cost you $2.39 at the New York World's Fair in 1964 — a buy for a son there already have been so many a thrill.

Porter

in the New York area today.

The $1 you brought to the 1939 Fair is worth only 45 cents in the marketplace in 1964 — a key reason adult visitors who remember the extravaganzas of 25 years ago find prices exorbitant in comparison.

In the quarter-century between the two New York World's Fairs, cost of living items in this area have been more than doubled in price. Specifically, the consumer price index for food in New York is up 167 per cent; for clothing it's up around 115 per cent; for rent it's up over 55 per cent.

Shall we weep for thee? Yes, if you have been forced to live on a fixed pension during this period, if you have found no way to participate in the income-employment upsurge or if your gains have been far below the average. But if so, you're in the small minority in our country.

But I shall not weep for thee if you are among the vast majority of us, for we have climbed so far up on the standard of living ladder since 1939 that simple dollar comparisons are not only meaningless but also dangerously misleading. Nor shall I weep for our economy as a whole, for it has achieved levels of prosperity far beyond anyone's wildest dreams in 1939.

Here are some key comparisons which put the doubling in living costs between 1939 and 1964 into true perspective.

Disposable Income

In this period, our disposable personal income — meaning income after taxes — have soared from $30 billion to a rate of $418 billion in the first quarter of 1964, a rise of almost 900 per cent.

Pay to employees is up from $40 billion to a rate of $361 billion now, an increase of over 600 per cent.

Corporation profits after taxes have skyrocketed from $5 billion to an estimated $31 billion this year, a 520 per cent jump.

Dividend payments on stocks have climbed 400 per cent — from $3.8 billion to $19 billion, and as for stock prices, their performance on average has been phenomenal. The day the 1939 Fair opened, the familiar Dew-Jones savings of industrial stocks were around $28. This average is now a monumental 700 points higher.

In 1939 civilian employment (unadjusted for seasonal variations) totaled 55,250,000, the unemployment rate was 14.5 per cent — and we were grateful that "only" 14% per cent of all able and willing to work couldn't find jobs.

Today employment totals 65,517,000, the unemployment rate is 5.3 per cent — and we consider this rate intolerably high, are waging a major campaign to slash it by accelerating our nation's growth and by pioneering moves to raise our labor force's education and skills.

A quarter-century ago, average hourly earnings in manufacturing industries were $2.73. Today, average hourly earnings in manufacturing are $2.81 and weekly earnings are $101.46. In durable goods, the average is $119.54.

To shrug off the erosion in our dollar's purchasing power in these decades of war and post-war inflation would be irresponsible bias. In these 25 years the dollar's value in the marketplace has been slashed by more than half, and the dollar left in this period in U. S. bonds, insurance, savings accounts is a shadow of what it was.

But the erosion has slowed markedly in recent years. And the central point remains that the vast majority of Americans have been getting enough extra income to more than offset the shrinkage in our money's buying power.

Incidentally, the 1939 Fair

A Buick Wildcat clips up a hill on our 4,011-acre Proving Ground at Milford, Michigan—on a "road inside the laboratory." The "road" is a chassis dynamometer with walls that are treated with 36 inches of glass fiber to absorb 99% of the sound. With a car positioned on it, it can re-create the speed, the load—practically all of the conditions of the open road.

Our engineers use this uncommon combination of room and machine to examine, evaluate, and eliminate car noises that shouldn't be there. Scientifically. Precisely. Under exacting conditions. It's one of the reasons why today's GM cars ride so smoothly and quietly, even though hundreds of moving parts are working fast and furiously inside. It's also part of what we mean when we say our cars are "proved all around": tested this way and that way to know how every part will work for you. In Michigan, at Pikes Peak, in the Arizona desert, on streets and highways coast to coast, we test our cars the long way, the hard way, the right way. On the world's truest proving grounds. Which is why a GM car is so likely to be worth more when you buy it, as you drive it, when you trade it in.

Another "weakness" of the Johnson administration cited by Taft was in the balance of payments area. "Our tariffs are the lowest in the world," and bound to give only temporary relief seeking to lower them even further, even in the dangerous area of agriculture products.

"This can lead only to more unemployment," he said.

While "talking pompously about its war on poverty," Taft said, "the administration has been trying to cover up the corruption of the Robert Baker tax cut was promised and was case. The issue is much greater in effect for part of the time."

Balance of Payments

"They brag about an improvement in the balance of payments situation. But they conveniently forget to mention that their report is based on preliminary figures only — and that even these figures reflect temporary factors, such as wheat sales to Russia, which are the lowest in the world, and bound to give only temporary relief."

"They report," he charged, "that the gross national product in the first quarter of this year made the largest year-to-year gain in more than two years. But they neglect to report that his gain wasn't as great as that said, 'the administration has even though the much-heralded ruption of the Robert Baker tax cut was promised and was case. # Cannon, Head Of Fund Group In House, Dies

3 p.m. at the Elsbury Baptist Church.

A peppery and agile figure despite his age and slight stature—he was only a 140-pounder—Cannon was dean of the House in point of age at the time of death.

He had been a member since 1922 and was outranked in service only by Rep. Carl Vinson, D-Ga.

Took Ill Sunday

Associates said he had been active and apparently in top health through last week, but had complained Sunday of not feeling well.

Rep. George H. Mahon, D-Tex., shepherded a supplemental appropriation bill through the House Monday at Cannon's request—a chore Cannon normally would have performed for himself.

Under the congressional seniority system Mahon, as the Democrat with the longest service on the Appropriations Committee behind Cannon, succeeds to the chairmanship.

Actually Cannon's Washington service extends long back of his tenure in the House.

In 1911 Champ Clark, then speaker of the House, persuaded him to come to the capital as a clerk in the speaker's office.

Cannon recalled not long ago that "I wanted to see the wheels go around" for a few weeks so he took the job on a temporary basis.

Parliamentarian in 1917

He never went back to Missouri to stay, and, one way or another, he has been personally making the wheels go around ever since.

He was elected House parliamentarian in 1917 and held the office until he was elected to membership from his 9th Missouri Congressional District.

He was rated one of the nation's leading authorities on parliamentary law and was a familiar figure to all who attended or watched Democratic national conventions in recent decades.

The slight figure in the frequent huddles with the late House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas, perennial convention chairman—that was Cannon.

Rayburn Wanted Expert

A political convention can get into a gargantuan procedural snarl and "Mr. Sam" didn't want the job of running the show without his parliamentary expert to help out.

More formally in that field, Cannon was author of a number of standard works on parliamentary procedure and of treatises on the subject in Encyclopedia Britannica and Encyclopedia Americana.

The prime element of his reputation was toughness, but he was a man of many facets depending on the occasion—tough as a bulldog, stubborn as one of the mules for which his state is noted, or the doting grandpa that he was.

Physical Encounters

On occasion over the years the toughness came out in physical action. The record of his more than 40 years in the House shows fistie encounters in earlier years with such figures as former Rep. John Phillips of California and Rep. John Taber of New York, Republicans, and former Sen. Kenneth McKellar of Tennessee, Democrat. The encounters, all relatively minor, occurred over differences on government monthly bills, all of which came through Congress.

The Missouriian had a wide reputation as a tight man with the government's billions of dollars, and was proud of the billions he had helped chip out of spending proposals.

But with his own financing he was a little looser, especially when it came to silver dollars. He shelled out hundreds of them to children he didn't even know, whom he encountered on his official work rounds.

Outagamie Coroner's Inquest to Query 4 Fatal Crash Witnesses

Killed in the one car accident was Robert L. Lueck, 18, of Appleton. He was a passenger in the car which flipped over on U.S. 10 near County Trunk A.

Once More Stassen Enters Presidential Bid Campaign

BY STAN BERKMAN

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Chas. Harold E. Stassen views the United States as one big town meeting, and the presidential contest as a forum.

So, when politicians scoff at his latest bid for the Republican presidential nomination—the fourth time his name has come up—Stassen just brushes it off.

"Defeats to me have been very incidental in the picture," he said in an interview. "I don't know of anyone who has done anything worthwhile who hasn't suffered his share of defeats."

"I feel very strongly that America must move forward building for peace, that it must solve the problems of automation and civil rights. On these three great issues of our time I feel I had something important to say, and that I could stimulate action. I want to break loose both major parties. The Republican party should be a progressive, forward-looking party with a common-sense approach."

His Philosophy

And Stassen, 57, is using his candidacy in presidential primaries across the country to expound what he describes as his "middle-of-the-road Eisenhower-type" philosophy.

What raises eyebrows is his contention that this time—after not winning an election in 17 years—he is making a serious bid for the nomination and that he stands a real chance of getting it.

Twenty years ago no one would have questioned such a statement. After two four-year terms as district attorney of Bucks County, in Minnesota, Stassen was elected governor of that state in 1920 at the age of 31. He won re-election for two more two-year terms, and was being spoken of as a "boy wonder" politician, when he resigned to enter the Navy.

Presidential Call

In 1945, while Commander Stassen was serving in the Pacific with Adm. William Halsey's Third Fleet, Halsey got this telegram from President Franklin D. Roosevelt: "Stassen needed for delegation to draft U.N. charter."

Stassen joined the American delegation which drafted the charter, then returned to the Pacific and emerged from the Navy in 1946. In the next year and a half, before the scramble began for the 1948 presidential election, Stassen practiced law, wrote, lectured, traveled, and worked informally with Sen. Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan, then chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

First Bid

The state executive mansion has always been an advantageous springboard to the White House, and Stassen made his bid in 1948.

But Stassen was five years out of public office and no president or vice president of the United States had ever come from Minnesota. Thomas E. Dewey was nominated.

After losing the nomination in 1948, Stassen moved to Philadelphia, to become president of the University of Pennsylvania. In 1953, President Eisenhower appointed him director of foreign operations, and, later, a U.S. representative in international disarmament talks.

Two Losses

In 1950, he lost the nomination for governor of Pennsylvania.

In 1953, he tried to win election as mayor of Philadelphia, but lost to Democrat Richardson Dilworth.

"This time I'm making a serious bid for the nomination," he says, "within the framework of a constructive impact on policy. Realistically, 1954 is an unusual situation. Seven or eight names are being considered and none has a strong chance individually. The two very active candidates, (Sen. Barry) Goldwater and (Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller), came out of the New Hampshire primary with only 23 per cent and 20 per cent after very extensive campaigns. In that picture, it's impossible to predict what will happen. The strength of my position is that I'm the last one to become active, and I fit in the center area."

"I realize this whole approach of mine is not fully understood," he said. "People usually look at it from a normal political view, but I don't fit the pattern."

Stassen advises "big action" by government to solve the unemployment problem. Does this conflict with Republican emphasis on private enterprise and hands-off government?

"I dispute that expression as the Republican view," Stassen said. "The Republican party has historically been a party of big ment charged Monday in U.S. District Court.

In his opening statement of the mail fraud and conspiracy trial of the eight defendants, Charles Z. Smith, special assistant U.S. attorney, said the government would prove that they fraudulently arranged $25 million in loans from the pension fund over a 4½-year period.

Smith told a jury of eight men and four women that $1 million of that amount was diverted to the defendants' own use.

The jury and four alternates were selected after two weeks of examining prospective jurors during which nearly 600 veniremen were questioned.

Smith said the loans were part of a scheme to help extricate Hoffa from personal financial difficulties stemming from his involvement in a housing project for retired persons in Brevard County, Fla., called Sun Valley Inc.

Smith, a tall, bespectacled Negro, told the jury Hoffa used his influence to obtain fraudulent loans in return for which the defendants received kickbacks in the form of fees, stock options and stock interest.

Hoffa is a trustee of the Central States, Southeast and Southwest Area Pension Fund which has its headquarters in Chicago.

State Doctors Send Plea to AMA Monday

Want Assurance of Membership Without Regard to Prejudice

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The State Medical Society of Wisconsin called on the American Medical Association Monday to assure qualified physicians membership regardless of race, religion or place of national origin.

The resolution introduced by the Milwaukee County Medical Society calls on the AMA to deny membership to any state or local body which refused to admit qualified physicians.

Doctors' Adoption

Dr. George Hillard Jr. of Milwaukee, a Negro, told the 123rd meeting of the state society that he doubted the AMA would adopt in entirety any proposal that would assure Negro membership in state and county medical societies.

However, Hillard said, "this kind of resolution will serve, to a large extent, as a basis for the AMA to take some action."

He said membership was denied to Negro doctors in some sections of Georgia, Louisiana, Virginia, Texas and Alabama.

The AMA voted in 1953 to continue a 14-year policy which only urges constituent societies which deny Negro doctors membership to review their stand.

Delegates to the state meeting also approved a resolution calling for intensified educational programs, particularly directed to young people, on the health hazards of smoking. Another resolution called for increased effort to strengthen relations between academic and practicing physicians and urged symposiums on the subject in Madison and Milwaukee.

Tuesday, May 12, 1964 Appleton Post-Crescent, A8

La Crose was selected as the delegate to the 1966 convention.

Cambridge before Wallace's appearance at the invitation of the Dorchester Business and Citizens Association included units which were called out at the height of similar violence in Cambridge last summer. A token force of 10 had been assigned to the uneasy city throughout the winter, but there had been no curfew or other restrictions similar to those imposed after an outbreak of shootings and arson last July.

Demands Last Year

The 1963 demonstrations emphasized demands of the Cambridge Nonviolent Action Committee for integration of restaurants and other public accommodations. The Town Council approved a public accommodations amendment to the Cambridge charter after these outbreaks, but it was overridden in a public vote on the question last Oct. 1. The Business and Citizens Association led the opposition.

As Wallace addressed that group Monday night integrationists were massing across town in the predominantly Negro quarter. They had just spilled out of a hall where about 400 attended a rally featuring speeches by Mrs. Richardson and other integrationist leaders.

"The left-wingers want to drive this country straight to socialism."

He repeated his declaration that the civil rights bill "will take over every home, farm, business, labor union and school in your state."

He also renewed his challenge to debate the civil rights bill

McNamara at Saigon Talks On War Plans

the U.S. military buildup in South Viet Nam began more than two years ago, McNamara promised the United States will provide "whatever is required for however long it is required"

Programs Studied

"During my brief stay here this time, we will review the progress achieved along the lines of the program laid out last March," he said as he arrived by plane from Bonn, Germany.

Air Force police checked all arrivals before McNamara landed and inspected the VIP room where he stopped after getting off his plane.

Police reported that one of the three Viet Cong arrested for the plot leaped from a second-floor window at police headquarters Monday.

The suspect, Nguyen Van Troi, landed on a Jeep, broke his leg and was taken unconscious to a hospital.

Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, who arrived Monday told reporters that visits by him and McNamara would probably continue to be frequent.

"Don't be surprised if we are back here every couple of months," he said.

At the Hague, U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk was urging other members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to support the South Vietnamese cause against the Communists with money, men or materials. But only West Germany, of America's 14 NATO allies, was reported considering sending some aid, and that reportedly would be economic.

Holdup Man Seeks Trial Site Change

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A man on trial for a $100,000 jewelry store holdup made a vain bid for change in venue Monday on the grounds he had "collaborated with the district attorney's office in a conspiracy to destroy" Milwaukee's recently-ended John Doe investigation.

John Seybold of Half Day, Ill., acting as co-counsel in his own defense, said he testified about nine times in the John Doe investigation and had been promised the court would "go easy" with him if he cooperated.

Seybold said that because of the alleged conspiracy he did not think the "district attorney's office is qualified to prosecute this case" in Milwaukee County.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Hugh R. O'Connell called Seybold's charge "baldedash," or nonsense. O'Connell told Circuit Court Judge Carl H. Daley of Superior that Seybold and the other defendants would go to "any lengths" to get an adjournment or cause a mistrial.

Dist. Atty. William J. McCauley called the conspiracy allegation "ridiculous" and said that if Seybold took a lie detector test "the needle would jump right off the paper."

Judge Daley denied Seybold's motion and other defense requests for a mistrial. Seybold, his wife, Ruth; Mr. and Mrs. John Belcher of Springfield, Ill.; Walter H. Wheeling of Detroit, and George Spies of Chicago are charged with armed robbery and attempted murder in the holdup of the Lebolt jewelry store in suburban Wauwatosa and the shooting of a policeman last Oct. 11.

The trial was scheduled to enter its second day today.

Most people don't realize how low Chrysler's new prices really are. Do you?

We find that many people think a Chrysler is a high-priced car.

Quite frankly, some models are.

But what many people don't realize is that some Chrysler models are actually priced lower than a small car equipped the way you'd want it.

Take the Chrysler Newport sedan. Manufacturer's suggested retail price is only $2901, not including the variables like state and local taxes, destination charges and optional equipment. That's $2901—which includes such good things as a 361-cubic-inch V-8. The kind of engine you'd pay extra for on a smaller car.

Interesting, isn't it?

Then why stick with the smaller jobs? They can't muster the room, the ride, the luxury or the performance you really want—no matter how many extra-cost options you put on them.

THOUGHTFUL BOY

Dear Louise: A neighbor was killed a few days ago, leaving a widow and three children. We do know that the family had some serious financial reverses. All on his own, my nine-year-old son canvassed the neighborhood for a floral contribution. To our amazement, he collected $66.00. Knowing that the widow is more destitute than ever, my son couldn't bear to think in terms of that much money for flowers. So we decided that my son take the cash to the widow, telling her that the contents of the envelope was intended originally for flowers, but he thought that perhaps she would prefer to accept the cash instead. She seemed very grateful and touched. Do you think we did the right thing?

Davis

Louise Davis Answers:
Yes, indeed, under the circumstances. I am glad that your son presented the gift in such a way as to avoid the interpretation of charity. That $66.00 will go a long way when she is in such dire straits.

MOURNING CLOTHES
Dear Louise: We have been informed that my mother's death is imminent. I am trying to think of proper clothing for me when the time comes. Would an all white suit be permissible at the funeral and also when receiving friends at the funeral home?

Louise Davis Answers:
No. Black is preferable. But I am sure no one would criticize if you wear a somber color such as dark gray or navy blue.

SHAPING UP

While you're still in the growing-up stage, don't get out the tape measure and hope to come up with some figures like 34-23-34, because perfect proportions may be a few years in the offing. With some girls, their legs begin to lengthen first. Then the hips start to widen and some of you may find your ears, nose, hands and feet outgrowing the rest of you. Don't fret, everything catches up and before you know it you'll balance out just right for your framework. Since beautiful figures come in all sizes, you'll soon have one to be proud of even if you're destined to be tall, short or of medium build. (Copyright, 1964)

The Ailing House Furniture Polish Mix Repeated

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: I have a problem concerning a polish for old furniture and some difficult stains. The ingredients were olive oil, alcohol and vinegar. I had used this years ago and somehow I lost the recipe which I got originally from your column. Could you repeat it?

A: Following is the "recipe" for furniture cleaner and polish that you are seeking: In a quart jar, mix 1 1/2 pints of olive oil with 1/2 pint of alcohol and 1 teaspoon vinegar. Wet cloth with solution and wring out dry. Rub furniture, then (very quickly) rub with soft, dry cloth. Work in sections.

Q: We are converting an outer building (large) into a workshop. We want to insulate and finish beneath the unfinished roof. What would be the best insulation to use?

A: Mineral wool insulation is now made with its installed insulating value indicated on the product; this means its actual insulation performance in the place where it is to be installed. For an excellent, informative guide as to what to use, and how to install it, I suggest sending 25 cents to National Mineral Wool Insulation Association, 1270

Sun Bathing Dangerous; Causes Leathery Skin

Don't be fooled by the early summer sun: It can burn you as badly as the sun of July and August. And because it seems so cool, it can be more dangerous. Sunburn should never be taken lightly. Aside from the pain you may suffer, it can lead to a more serious condition... such as infection. The best treatment for a sunburn is to avoid getting it. But when fun overcomes judgment, and you finish the day looking and feeling like a broiled lobster, you should take immediate steps to relieve the pain and speed healing.

See Physician
If your burn is severe enough to cause blisters, see a doctor right away. He will prescribe treatment to prevent infection. Most overexposure, fortunately, is not that serious. After showering to remove salt or pool chemicals that could irritate tender skin, rub on a soothing, medicated cream. Wear loose clothing and by all means don't expose yourself to the sun again until you are healed.

Increased consumption of fluids may be in order, since you are somewhat dehydrated. Sleeping with a sunburn can be a problem. Many physicians prescribe something to relieve the pain and reduce fever and to encourage sleep.

Aside from the immediate Sixth Ave., New York, N. Y. 10020 for a copy of "How To Install Mineral Wool Insulation in Homes."

Q: We recently purchased a marble top cocktail table and would like information on removing the following stain. Our daughter set a bottle of a soft drink on the table and after several hours when I picked it up, there was a round ring where the bottle was standing. I tried soap and water immediately to remove the stain, but it would not budge. What do you suggest?

A: Try the following to remove the stain: Apply a poultice of white blotting paper or cleansing tissue and hair-bleach strength hydrogen peroxide, adding a few drops of ammonia, to the stain, placing a sheet of thin plastic on top to retard evaporation. This should draw the stain out. Then rinse with clear water, and wipe with a dry cloth. If necessary, polish with putty power to restore shine. I suggest sending 10 cents to Marble Institute of America, 32 South Fifth Ave., Mt. Vernon, N.Y., for a copy of their helpful leaflet on marble care.
